“

As a recipient of the Manaaki Scholarship, I was able to access world-class education from the university through my brilliant professors, the extensive library, top-of-the-line facilities, and the ever-supportive International Student Experience team that made this experience unique and very memorable.

“As the world moves towards sustainable and clean energy, I am refocusing my career on renewable energy [RE]. Coming from a country with abundant natural resources, I am eager to learn how New Zealand, a global leader in RE, has successfully integrated renewable generation into its energy mix.

The programme keeps things interesting with some fascinating topics and guest sessions. Professors are super approachable, going beyond the standard classroom atmosphere. The guest speakers from different fields make the whole learning experience way more interesting and real.

Overall, Victoria University of Wellington was the perfect fit for my Master's in Public Policy journey—mixing things up with practical things, a bit of independence, and courses that match my interests.
