Te Herenga Waka—Victoria University of Wellington has been awarded an overall five-stars-plus rating in the QS Stars university rating system, one of only 17 universities worldwide to do so. The University gained a total score of 966 out of a possible 1,000 points across eight audited categories, including maximum points for the employability and inclusiveness categories. Maximum points were awarded for 25 of the more than 30 indicators, including overall student satisfaction; further study; graduate employment rate; international diversity, support, and collaborations; academic reputation; satisfaction with teaching; campus facilities; accreditations; art and cultural investment and facilities; disabled access; scholarships and bursaries; low-income outreach; and student cohort diversity.

The Government’s Pastoral Care Code sets out the University’s roles and responsibilities in ensuring the safety and wellbeing of all our students. This includes fostering learning environments that are safe and designed to support positive learning experiences of diverse learner groups. During your time here, you have access to a range of services and support to promote your overall wellbeing, development, and educational achievement. Read more about the code and our obligations.

Situated around a spectacular harbour and surrounded by beautiful scenery, Wellington is compact, lively, and home to fantastic beaches, green spaces, creative culture, events, shops, and a thriving food scene.

The city is ideal for student life—as New Zealand's capital, it is also the country's political and cultural heart. Many students consider their years at university to be some of the best in their lives. Whether it is in one of the University's halls of residence or flatting, finding the right place to live will help you make the most of your time at Te Herenga Waka—Victoria University of Wellington.

Halls are a great option for first-year students. They are safe and supportive communities of students from different backgrounds with varying interests and offer an academic-focused environment to transition to university life. Each hall organises activities for students so they can lead a balanced life of study and socialising. Our halls are committed to the care and welfare of residents, and each has a dedicated team of hall staff on site to ensure that the hall is a safe, healthy, and positive community conducive to study.

Many students move out of halls after their first year. However, there are a number of self-catered facilities available and you have the option to apply to continue living in university accommodation for the remainder of your studies, with fully furnished flats and houses close to our campuses. There are some financial advantages to living in a hall due to inclusive costs and shorter contracts that correspond to the academic year. See the University's Managing Your Money publication for sample budgets for living in the halls and flatting.

Flatting with other people may suit you if you are organised and independent. You will be responsible for cooking some, or all, of your meals; managing electricity, food, internet, and phone bills; and doing housework. Costs vary according to the type of building, distance from the University, and whether you share food and other expenses.

Te Kopanga—University Accommodation Wellington can help you decide which option is best for you and guide you to find a suitable home. We process applications for the halls of residence and offer advice about a range of other accommodation options.
APPLYING FOR A HALL OF RESIDENCE

Online applications open on 1 August 2023 for 2024 hall accommodation. You do not have to gain admission to the University before applying. The deadline to submit an application for first-round offers is 1 October 2023. Early offers may be made from 15 September 2023. To access the online application, you must first register with your email address and password. We recommend you do not use your school email address to register.

Applying before 15 September 2023 increases your chances of getting a place in a hall for the 2024 academic year. Applying by this date also means that any issues with your application, payment, or reference can be resolved before the closing date.

Choose your three hall preferences carefully. We consider all three choices equally; therefore, we recommend you only select halls that you would like to live in. If you decline an offer of a place from one of the halls listed on your application, it is unlikely you will receive another offer. We advise against listing only our most popular halls (Capital Hall, Katharine Jermyn Hall, and Te Punī Village). The last day to change your hall preferences is 15 September 2023, as halls will start to review applicants from mid-September.

You are welcome to visit the halls. Contact them in advance to make private arrangements, book a tour during the school holidays through our website, or come to Open Day on Friday 25 August 2023 for scheduled tours. For private arrangements, allow 10–15 minutes per tour as well as travel time between the halls.

Take care with your personal profile. It plays an important part in the selection process, as it provides an insight into who you are and how you can add to the hall community. Aim for at least three sentences for each question, where possible.

If you are an applicant under the age of 20 attending university for the first time in 2024, you must arrange for a completed Common Confidential Reference form to be sent to Te Kopanga—University Accommodation Wellington. If you are a New Zealand domestic secondary school applicant, you should talk to your school to arrange this.

In addition, gap-year applicants may want to arrange a more up-to-date reference in the form of a letter from an employer, tutor, minister, sports coach, or the like.

If you are a domestic student under the age of 18 at move-in date, you will be placed on a non-alcohol floor for the full academic year. Your application may be restricted to a limited number of halls.

All students over the age of 20 as at 1 August 2023 will be offered a self-catered hall only and will be required to provide an up-to-date reference from an employer, tutor, minister, sports coach, or the like.

If you are an international student under the age of 18 years, we require you to stay in one of the following accommodation options: a catered hall; a homestay; with your parents; or with a designated caregiver.

If your application is incomplete after 1 October 2023, it will not go through to the initial selection process. If your application is finalised after 1 October, we will ask you to join the application pool to be considered for late offers. For more information, see page 10.

Include any special requirements in your application (for allergy, diet, health, wellbeing, religious, financial, or other reasons). This helps us to ensure you have chosen the most appropriate halls to meet and support your needs.
International students should indicate any planned early arrival in their application if possible or contact Te Kopanga—University Accommodation Wellington ahead of time. The team can advise on accommodation options at local hostels or other halls of residence (depending on the availability) at the student’s expense, in conjunction with Te Kahupapa—Wellington University International.

Apply only once. Multiple applications from the same person will cause delays in processing. To make changes to your application, or if you forget your username, email us at accommodation@vuw.ac.nz

Applications for Trimester 1 only (February–May) are accepted from applicants who will finish their studies at the end of Trimester 1. Contracts for Trimester 1 only will attract an additional levy of 10 percent to cover the cost of finding a subsequent replacement for the room.

It is never too late to apply for a hall throughout the academic year. Applications for Trimester 2 open on 1 April, and students seeking accommodation for Trimester 3 can apply from 1 August.
Where possible, we will place you according to your choices. However, we do not guarantee an offer of a place in your first-choice hall unless you have specific health or disability needs that require appropriate facilities and support offered by that hall.

In some instances, we may offer you a place in a hall you have not chosen. For the best chance of getting a place, make sure you complete the online application form on time.

Applications open on 1 August 2023 and are due for first-round offers by 1 October 2023. To be eligible for an offer of accommodation, you must apply by the due date and have a satisfactory confidential reference from your school. Halls will begin to review applications from mid-September. The majority of accommodation offers are made approximately one to two weeks after the application due date. However, no student is guaranteed to receive an offer at this point in the offer process.

Additional offers will be made up until the first week of Trimester 1 as spaces become available. Heads of halls choose applicants according to the University’s guaranteed offer and equity criteria, and work towards creating a diverse hall community by considering gender balance, cultural diversity, degree type, and geographical representation.

OFFERS PROCESS

Te Kopanga—University Accommodation Wellington generally receives more hall applications than the number of beds available. It is simply not possible for us to offer everyone accommodation at once. As a result, some applicants will not receive an offer in the first few weeks after 1 October. These students will be sent an email request to join the waiting pool to select more halls and to be considered for offers made further on in the offer process.

When you receive an offer, you will have a limited time to accept it. If it is not accepted by the end of that period, your offer will be automatically cancelled and you will be notified.

As applicants decline their offers between October and the beginning of Trimester 1, we make offers to applicants in the waiting pool to fill vacancies. To increase your chances of gaining a place, we recommend you expand your preferences to at least five halls at the time of joining the waiting pool.

We also recommend that you do not decline an offer because you want to be offered a place in another hall. It is unlikely you will receive a second offer, and students who have yet to receive an offer will be considered before you.

To ensure the waiting pool operates as efficiently as possible, we will email you occasionally to confirm whether you would like to remain in the pool. If we do not hear from you within an appropriate time frame, your application will become inactive and will be removed from the pool. In addition, please let us know if you are no longer coming to Victoria University of Wellington to study, so we can make offers to students who are still committed to enrolling at the University.

Your application is important to us, and we will endeavour to place you in one of our halls. However, if you do not receive an offer of a place in a hall by mid-January, we recommend that you start looking at alternative accommodation, such as private hostels or a room in an established flat. If you have any questions about the waiting pool or alternative accommodation, contact Te Kopanga—University Accommodation Wellington.
FEES AND CHARGES

DEPOSIT

Upon acceptance of an offer of accommodation, a deposit is required, which is typically around $600. The deposit has three components:

▶ activities fee
▶ administration fee
▶ bond.

If you withdraw from the contract before the withdrawal date specified in the contract, we will refund the activities fee and bond. If you withdraw after the withdrawal date, we will refund only the bond.

ACCOMMODATION FEES

The accommodation fees are payable in advance. Most halls charge monthly fees, with the first instalment due in late January.

New Zealand students will not receive StudyLink assistance or any scholarship award payments soon enough to pay the first hall instalment, and it will not cover the full cost of subsequent instalments.

Contracts for Trimester 1 only will attract an additional levy of 10 percent to cover the cost of finding a subsequent replacement for the room.

FEES AND CHARGES

If you withdraw after taking up residence:

▶ you and your guarantor (if you have one) remain responsible for the $500 charge for breaking the contract
▶ you will be liable for the accommodation fees unless (and until) a suitable replacement takes up residence.

ADDITIONAL COSTS

In independent-living halls, the costs for electricity and the internet may be additional to the accommodation fees.

NEED HELP?

Did you know there are a limited number of scholarships available to contribute to accommodation costs? Find out more about scholarships, bursaries, and awards on our website.

The team at Te Ratonga Penapena Pūtea—Student Finance can help you with budgeting for hall instalments, provide budgeting tools, and offer a comprehensive range of financial information and support.

SUPPORTING OUR RESIDENTS

Victoria University of Wellington prioritises the welfare of our resident student community, assisting residents with wellbeing and support services. We enable our students to thrive in our community, providing a residential environment that supports wellbeing, social connection, and academic success.

With a strong team of hall staff, a hall whānau culture, and excellent support services in place, students in halls of residence in their first year have the opportunity to transition to university life with support. They enjoy full access to everything the University has to offer in this regard, from health and wellbeing services and recreational facilities to academic assistance and help managing finances.

We see student wellbeing as underpinned by a strong partnership between the student, our halls of residence, university support services, and parents and whānau. Each party has an important role to play in ensuring students’ welfare and academic success.

Our residents can expect a high standard of care at every stage of their academic career.

We are committed to continual improvement and work to incorporate evolving best practices in the student accommodation sector that align with New Zealand’s code of practice pastoral care standards for both domestic and international students.

It is important to ensure residents are safe and flourish in an academic environment, and staff need to know about any special health or wellbeing needs you may have. You can disclose these, or any concerns you may have, when you confirm your offer of accommodation. We can then tailor a pastoral care plan to your needs.

If you have any questions or concerns about coming into a hall environment, you are welcome to contact the student support coordinators or heads of halls directly.
HEADS OF HALLS
Heads of halls oversee the welfare of residents. They manage all staff and operations at their hall or precinct. The head of hall works with the deputy head of hall, residential advisers, night managers, and student support coordinators to ensure students are living in a safe environment that supports their wellbeing and academic performance. Heads of halls work closely with their colleagues to provide a high and consistent standard of care, and to build communities that live the University's core ethical values of respect, responsibility, fairness, integrity, and empathy.

DEPUTY HEADS OF HALLS
Deputy heads of halls work with the heads of halls to provide leadership and management within the hall environment. Their role includes assisting the coordination of the residential adviser team and managing responses to residents' behaviour. Their role is essential in building each hall's sense of community and individual culture. The deputy heads of halls also contribute to disciplinary processes and function as a conduit to the University's support services.

RESIDENTIAL ADVISERS
Residential advisers (RAs) are high-achieving senior students employed and trained by the University to support residents' transition into tertiary study, develop and maintain the hall's sense of community, and provide leadership through the provision of social and learning opportunities. The RAs live on site and a group of residents is assigned to them. The RAs are often the first point of contact for residents needing assistance or support as they negotiate the challenges of living in a communal environment away from home.

NIGHT MANAGERS
Night managers work on site outside regular office hours, supporting the management team in the running of the hall. Their focus is on the health, welfare, and safety of residents, as well as ensuring the security of hall buildings. The night manager works in conjunction with the RAs, assisting with duty rounds and addressing any incidents that may occur.

STUDENT SUPPORT COORDINATORS
Student support coordinators (SSCs) are qualified health professionals who draw on their expertise as social workers, counsellors, and occupational therapists to support residents and offer professional supervision for RAs. The SSCs are assigned to each hall to help manage responses to residents with complex needs. They work closely with other health professionals at the University as part of Mauri Ora—Student Health and Counselling, as well as Te Amaru—Disability Services, Te Rataonga Penapena Pūtea—Student Finance, and the University's student success advisers. The SSCs also work closely with the heads and deputy heads of halls to ensure health and wellbeing goals are realised in each hall community.

RESTORATIVE JUSTICE
Starting university and being away from home for the first time is a milestone many people look back on for the rest of their lives. With it comes the freedom to make your own choices and the excitement of meeting new people.

Living with others can also bring challenges, and the staff in our halls of residence work hard to ensure a safe and positive environment for residents. As Victoria University of Wellington is a restorative university, the halls utilise restorative justice processes to address conflict and rule breaking—an approach that aims to repair any harm caused.

This process requires everyone affected to work together to reach an agreement about what must be done to restore relationships. A restorative community is one in which all members are valued and feel they belong, and where all contribute to the common good. These communities are founded on mutual care and respect.
Each year, the University's halls participate in a varied inter-hall sports and cultural events calendar. These events provide an opportunity for all students to participate and develop their strengths in many ways throughout the year. In conjunction with the large range of inter-hall events, each hall carries out inter-floor activities to develop and strengthen the community within the hall. To maintain students' focus, events are not scheduled during the periods around study week and exams. An example of a catered hall's event calendar is below.
CHARITY EVENTS

Students in Victoria University of Wellington’s halls of residence organise a series of charitable events each year as they vie for the Lesley O’Cain Charity Cup—awarded after an inter-hall competition—by raising money for Wellington Free Ambulance and a second charity of their choice. Events include dinners, quizzes, and sports events. Many of the University’s halls also take part in additional charitable events throughout the year, including street appeals, clean-ups, and voluntary work.

*All fees quoted are based on a full academic year contract for 2023. Halls operated by Victoria University of Wellington charge for 37 weeks. Partner-operated halls (marked with †) may charge for a different period. Fees may vary for 2024. Contracts for Trimester 1 only (18 weeks) will attract a 10 percent surcharge. Electricity and wireless internet are included in fees for all catered halls.
CATERING

Moving away from home means you may be eating food that is different from your family’s cooking and what you normally eat.

We really appreciate that food matters, and we invest in expert catering to make sure you get the nutritional support you need while you stay in our halls. We are also dedicated to looking after those of you with dietary requirements that may be stressful to manage in an unfamiliar environment.

When you apply for accommodation, make sure you tell us what your dietary needs are so we can plan in advance how to support you.

Here is how we’ll provide you with the best food experience possible:

► Menus are designed by a dedicated education dietitian and chef managers and are available to view through the Time2Eat app (in most catered halls), which also allows residents to order GrabNGo and late meals.

► Menus change to meet the seasons and fresh, seasonal produce is our inspiration.

► A dietitian ensures that all the menus meet the national guidelines regarding well-balanced choices for young adults.

► We ensure there is a full allergen menu for all the significant likely allergens (fish, gluten, nut, and shellfish) and each hall is audited on a regular basis to ensure allergen management practices are being strictly adhered to.

► We cater for religious and dietary preferences, including halal, vegetarian, and vegan.

► We encourage students to get to know their catering team at the start of the year—they welcome feedback via the Time2Eat app.

► Our kitchens are production spaces—we are gluten friendly, not gluten free; however, we are able to cater for coeliacs and students with gluten sensitivities. The University is the first tertiary institution to achieve gluten-free accreditation in the country, thanks to a partnership with Coeliac New Zealand.

Te Puni Terrace is operated by Te Herenga Waka—Victoria University of Wellington.

Located on our Kelburn campus, Te Puni Terrace may appeal to independent, mature students in their second year or above. It is in a handy spot for students, close to classes and other university services.
Te Puni Terrace consists of 33 furnished single studio rooms, each with a private bathroom and basic cooking facilities, and 15 furnished single apartment rooms with a shared bathroom and kitchen area. Residents supply their own bedding.

Single studios and apartment single rooms are priced at $13,912 per year (2023 fee, may vary for 2024).

The fee includes electricity, heating, and internet.

Residents cook for themselves.

Wireless internet is available hall-wide, and students can log in using their university account.

Te Puni Terrace is a two-minute walk from the Kelburn campus, a 15-minute walk from Te Aro campus, and a 25-minute walk from the Pipitea campus.

A dedicated team of hall staff is on site to help students navigate the challenges of university study and to provide support as needed.

Facilities include a common room and study space.

A communal laundry is on site, with washing machines and dryers.

There are no car parking facilities at Te Puni Terrace, but there is bike storage.

Some facilities are suitable for residents with disabilities.
Te Herenga Waka—Victoria University of Wellington offers athlete-friendly living options in Te Puni Village and Helen Lowry Hall.

TE PUNI VILLAGE—HOME FOR STUDENT ATHLETES

Athlete-friendly living at Te Puni Village offers student athletes and committed sportspeople the opportunity to live alongside one another on a dedicated floor, sharing similar experiences balancing sport and study. Co-locating student athletes means they are able to create a living environment and community that supports them in achieving their potential in both arenas.

Student athletes experience:

- being part of a community of students committed to juggling competitive sport and tertiary study
- ready access to the wider support available to the University’s student athletes
- hall management and residential advisers who are committed to athlete-friendly living
- fitness recovery tools in the communal living space on their floor
- athlete-friendly living floors that are alcohol free.

HELEN LOWRY HALL—THE HALL FOR MOUNTAIN BIKERS

Two dedicated houses at Helen Lowry Hall allow mountain bikers to live alongside one another, creating a rewarding hall experience. This environment aims to support recreational and performance riders alike as they explore Wellington, hit the trails, and complete their tertiary study.

Mountain bikers can expect:

- a premier housing location close to Makara Peak Mountain Biking Park
- safe, secure, and functional bike storage and maintenance space
- self-contained and catered living options
- catering options that are appropriate for student athletes
- hall management and residential advisers who are committed to athlete-friendly living
- access to a fitness facility in the hall
- access to the wider support available to the University’s student athletes
- an alcohol-free living space.

FLATTING

There are two ways to move into a flat. You can move into a vacant flat (by yourself or in a group) or into a vacant bedroom in an already established flat (with existing flatmates). Leases are normally fixed for 12 months, but it is possible to find shorter subleases, or you can live in university flats that are rented for the academic year (see Kelburn Flats—Whare Hīnau on page 44).

Like everywhere, rent is variable as it depends on the flat’s condition, number of rooms, and distance from the city. For unfurnished properties within walking distance of the Kelburn campus, you should expect to pay around $364–$418 per week for a one-bedroom flat, $491–$562 for a two-bedroom flat, or $720–$865 for a three-bedroom flat. For furnished properties, you should expect an additional charge of $50–$100 per week.

The average cost for a bedroom in a student flat is $245–$285 per week. There are some cheaper places, but they are likely to be a long way from campus, small, or cold. Wellington can be chilly in winter and few flats have central heating or double glazing.

Keep in mind the set-up costs of flatting. These include a bond (usually two weeks’ rent but can be up to four weeks’ rent), connection charges for electricity, gas, internet, and telephone, and furniture. Furnished accommodation can be difficult to find and relatively expensive. You can hire furniture and appliances or purchase them second-hand. In some cases, property owners or departing tenants provide furniture at a cost.

For more information on the costs of living in a flat, see Managing Your Money.

Some useful resources for flatting, including tenancy forms, financial and legal information, and general advice, are available online.
