Te Mahere Whai Tikanga a Te Pataka Kōrero
Library Strategy Map Priorities 2023

The Library's strategy map is framed within the context of Te Herenga Waka-Victoria University of Wellington's Strategic Plan and commitment to Te Tiriti o Waitangi Statute principles.

The Library provides world class services and resources supporting quality learning, teaching and research, including:

- Developing and maintaining an evidence-based collection that is easily accessible and discoverable

- Providing advice and guidance that supports good management of information and records, that is format neutral

- Copyright advice, guidance and reporting

- Proactively engaging with academics and students to contribute to learning success

- Contributing to enhancing reach, visibility and engagement of University research outputs

- Actively managing digital and physical Library environments to enrich the student experience

Our core ethical values are respect, responsibility, fairness, integrity, and empathy
With, and as, tangata whenua, we realise the values under Mai i te Iho ki te Pae:

Whai mātauranga	Akoranga	Whanaungatanga	Kaitiakitanga	Rangatiratanga	Manaakitanga
We provide expertise and services to support our researchers	We provide expertise and services to support learning and teaching	Collectively we grow meaningful and long-lasting relationships	We work with our community partners to ensure sustainable access to content and collections	We value leadership at all levels	We are open and generous and foster an environment for inclusiveness and growth

Library collections

- Develop and implement a sustainable collection evaluation plan to demonstrate the return on investment
- Enhance visibility and engagement with our digital heritage collections
- Undertake a print collection audit to inform priorities and align with space planning

Stakeholder engagement

- Embedding UX principles and methodologies
- Website content review and redevelopment
- Capability building for reporting to inform decision making
- Work with business units to develop sustainable disposal of high-risk information and records
- Develop online information and records management training module

Student experience

- Prepare and deliver a new frontline services model reflecting changing needs
- Empower and support the academic success of Māori students, staff, and researchers through Te Rautaki Māori initiatives, led by UX design principles
- Develop a vision for library spaces, utilising UX and international trends
- Develop and integrate library online services at the point of need

Enhancing research visibility, reach and engagement

- Lead developments in open access initiatives including enhancing open journals system (OJS)
- Continue developing the thesis self-deposit tool
- Develop and deliver research support tailored workshops
- Exploring options for better supporting non-print research outputs with the intention of a workable solution
