Proposed merger with Wellington College of Education

At the time this Calendar went to press, the Councils of the Wellington College of Education and Victoria University of Wellington had applied to the Minister of Education for approval to disestablish the Wellington College of Education and merge it with Victoria University. The merger, if approved, would come into effect on 1 January 2005. At that point Victoria University would take over responsibility for enrolling and teaching students in programmes formerly offered by the Wellington College of Education, to be delivered through the University's proposed Faculty of Education and proposed College of Education. For latest information on the proposed merger consult the website www.vuw.ac.nz.
