Class Times and Room Numbers

TIMETABLE: Mondays 9.30-12.20 in GB G07. [Geoff will be away overseas on 31 July and 25 September. Alternative dates will be arranged for those two classes.]

EXAM PERIOD: 20 October – 11 November 2006

Course Objectives

The course explores a range of current issues in development economics, by discussion of recent journal articles, books and working papers from leading researchers in the field. The aim is to advance students' familiarity with the contemporary literature and with areas of ongoing scholarly debate. The teaching format will be seminar-style with class members expected to read widely and to participate in discussion.

Expected Workload

Honours study is generally expected to require at least 12.5 hours per week. The class will normally meet for two hours each Monday morning, although the timetable and room booking allows sessions to run up to three hours. Students will be expected to put in at least two hours each week reading the background material for the session, in addition to which each student will be expected to prepare three detailed presentations, summarising and evaluating a set of papers in depth and leading discussion.

Group Work

Students are encouraged to collaborate in reviewing material and preparing for presentations, but all assessment will rest on individual performance and contributions.

Readings

There is no set text. Journal articles, monographs and working papers used for the class will be posted in PDF format on the ECON 415 Blackboard site. A list of topics and key readings is included at the back of this course outline.

Assessment Requirements

Assessment will be on the basis of students' seminar presentations (at least two of which must be distilled into written essays) on course topics, and the final examination. The final mark will weight these two assessment components equally [Essay 1 = 25%, Essay 2 = 25%, or Research Essay = 50%; Final Examination = 50%] unless the final exam mark is higher, in which case the exam mark will be used. Credit may also be given for excellence in oral presentation.

Mandatory Course Requirements

Each member of the class must prepare and present not less than TWO seminar presentations based on allocated readings.

Communication of Additional Information

All necessary information will be placed on Blackboard.

General University Policies and Statutes

Students should familiarise themselves with the University's policies and statutes, particularly the Assessment Statute, the Personal Courses of Study Statute, the Statute on Student Conduct and any statutes relating to the particular qualifications being studied; see the Victoria University Calendar available in hard copy or under 'About Victoria' on the VUW home page at www.vuw.ac.nz.

Student and Staff Conduct

The Statute on Student Conduct together with the Policy on Staff Conduct ensure that members of the University community are able to work, learn, study and participate in the academic and social aspects of the University's life in an atmosphere of safety and respect. The Statute on Student Conduct contains information on what conduct is prohibited and what steps are to be taken if there is a complaint. For information about complaint procedures under the Statute on Student Conduct, contact the Facilitator and Disputes Advisor or refer to the statute on the VUW policy website at www.vuw.ac.nz/policy/studentconduct. The Policy on Staff Conduct can be found on the VUW website at www.vuw.ac.nz/policy/staffconduct.

Academic Grievances

If you have any academic problems with your course you should talk to the tutor or lecturer concerned; class representatives may be able to help you in this. If you are not satisfied with the result of that meeting, see the Head of School or the relevant Associate Dean; VUWSA Education Coordinators are available to assist in this process. If, after trying the above channels, you are still unsatisfied, formal grievance procedures can be invoked. These are set out in the Academic Grievances Policy which is published on the VUW website at www.vuw.ac.nz/policy/academicgrievances.

Academic Integrity and Plagiarism

Academic integrity is about honesty – put simply it means no cheating. All members of the University community are responsible for upholding academic integrity, which means staff and students are expected to behave honestly, fairly and with respect for others at all times.

Plagiarism is a form of cheating which undermines academic integrity. The University defines plagiarism as follows:

The presentation of the work of another person or other persons as if it were one's own, whether intended or not. This includes published or unpublished work, material on the Internet and the work of other student or staff.

It is still plagiarism even if you re-structure the material or present it in your own style or words.

Note: It is however, perfectly acceptable to include the work of others as long as that is acknowledged by appropriate referencing.

Plagiarism is prohibited at Victoria and is not worth the risk. Any enrolled student found guilty of plagiarism will be subject to disciplinary procedures under the Statute on Student Conduct and may be penalised severely. Consequences of being found guilty of plagiarism can include:

- an oral or written warning
- cancellation of your mark for an assessment or a fail grade for the course
- suspension from the course or the University.

Find out more about plagiarism, and how to avoid it, on the University's website at www.vuw.ac.nz/home/studying/plagiarism.html.

Students with Impairments

The University has a policy of reasonable accommodation of the needs of students with disabilities. The policy aims to give students with disabilities the same opportunity as other students to demonstrate their abilities. If you have a disability, impairment or chronic medical condition (temporary, permanent or recurring) that may impact on your ability to participate, learn and/or achieve in lectures and tutorials or in meeting the course requirements, please contact the Course Coordinator as early in the course as possible. Alternatively you may wish to approach a Student Adviser from Disability Support Services (DSS) to discuss your individual needs and the available options and support on a confidential basis. DSS are located on Level 1, Robert Stout Building, telephone (04) 463 6070, email disability@vuw.ac.nz. The name of your School's Disability Liaison Person is in the relevant prospectus or can be obtained from the School Office or DSS.

Student Support

Staff at Victoria want students to have positive learning experiences at the University. Each Faculty has a designated staff member who can either help you directly if your academic progress is causing you concern, or quickly put you in contact with someone who can. Assistance for specific groups is also available from the Kaiwawao Māori, Manaaki Pihipihinga or Victoria International.

In addition, the Student Services Group (email student-services@vuw.ac.nz) is available to provide a variety of support and services. Find out more at www.vuw.ac.nz/st_services/.

VUWSA employs Education Coordinators who deal with academic problems and provide support, advice and advocacy services, as well as organising class representatives and Faculty delegates.
