Specific Course-related Student Objectives

This course examines land, water-based and other resources available to Māori and initiatives that can be taken in policy development to ensure these resources are used effectively.

This course has several objectives. These include the student:

- Exploring the resource base uniquely available for Māori development;
- Developing an understanding of the management systems applied to the Māori resource base;
- Examining current policies and change proposals relating to the management of Māori resources;
- Providing students with the opportunity to undertake a critical analysis of the management systems applied to specific areas of Māori resources; and
- Developing students' skills in the assessment of the management systems applied to Māori resources.

In particular MBUS 201 will provide students with an up to date account of existing and new initiatives relating to Māori resource management and Māori development

Course Content

MBUS 201 is for undergraduate students who have an interest in the Māori resource base and the processes which determine how the resources are managed.

Māori resources comprise a broad range of elements which can be uniquely applied to the general thrust of Māori development. While Māori must utilise the resources available from all sectors, some resources are specifically available to Māori for Māori development. It is the management of this broad range of resources which we examine in this paper.

The resources examined in this course range from the most vital resources of all, the people, and include the management of resources associated with the land, water and other tangible and intangible assets.

The course begins with an overview of the Māori resource base, and then looks at the issues, processes and systems by which they are managed. It examines the broad institutional framework, which addresses the control, application and management of the resources and looks at how and why Māori has only recently been able to regain control over their resources.

Participants on this course will examine and evaluate new Government initiatives targeted towards Maori development.

Expected Workload .

Students can expect the workload to be approximately 15hrs per week including both scheduled contact time (lectures, tutorials, workshops) and outside class.

Requirement for Written work

Marking

Staff aim to mark assignments promptly and return them to you in plenty of time for you to utilise the feedback in preparing your next assignment. Markers look for professionally presented work displaying a thorough understanding of the topic, a strong argument supported by sound evidence (appropriated referenced) and an ability to evaluate material.

A mark of 50 is a pass and indicates an adequate performance. Most students will meet an ‘acceptable’ standard of work throughout the year and a number will maintain an excellent standard. There are no “quotas” on any of these categories, so make use of the information available to you, and aim for the top.

The following broad indicative characterisations of grade will apply in grading:

A+	excellent performance in all respects
A	excellent performance in almost all respects
A-	excellent performance in many respects
B+	very good, some aspects excellent
B, B-	good but not excellent performance
C+, C	work satisfactory overall but inadequate in some respects
D	poor performance overall, some aspects adequate
E	well below the required standard
K:	Failure to achieve mandatory course requirements and have achieved at least an average "C" over all the assessment. Note this is a failing grade.

Presentation

All assignments should be typed and double-spaced with an adequate margin on the left-hand side of the page for markers' comments. Write on only one side of the page.

Handing in of Assignments

Assignments should be submitted, in hard copy form in the boxes located on the Mezzanine floor. Assignments received after that time will be deemed to be late, and must be handed to Reception, Level 10, Rutherford House.

All Hand-Ins should have: an Assignment Cover Sheet stating your name, the course name, lecturers name, assignment name and number, a word count and due date. You should also put page numbers on each page, and use in-text referencing and include a list of references at the end. Preferred referencing style is APA system. You can access the information from the online VUW library site (<http://www.vuw.ac.nz/library/resources/virtualref.shtml#style>)

Students will prepare two copies of each hand-in and keep the second copy for their own reference. Students must also keep an electronic copy of their work
