Course Objectives and Guidance

In this course economic theory is combined with evidence in the study of the organisation of firms, industries and markets. It draws on game theory, transaction cost analysis, information theory and the application of economics to legal issues.

The objective is to teach you how to apply the tools of economic analysis to issues relating to the performance of markets and organizations. It reflects the view that theory must inform empirical investigation.

The more practice you get at applying economic analysis, the better you will do in this course. Read the materials before you come to lectures and prepare answers to questions that will be asked in class. Come to all the lectures and contribute to class discussion -- it will help your economic reasoning and hone your ability to present oral analytical arguments. The textbook contains many questions -- try to answer them yourself. It will ensure that you understand the material presented. Make sure that you complete all the coursework. It is designed to help build your economic thinking and ability to present written economic analysis.

Expected Workload

This is a 24 point course which implies a workload = 240 hours. Hours expected per week = 19 (over 13 weeks), or 20 (over 12 weeks). This is a guide only, individual students should not feel constrained by it.

Readings

Required Textbook

Cabral, Luis M.B. Introduction to Industrial Organisation (MIT Press)

Readings

Other useful texts include:

Carlton, D. and Perloff, J., Modern Industrial Organization, 3rd ed. AddisonWesley 2000.

Perloff, J. Microeconomics, 4th ed. Addison-Wesley

Other readings will be indicated, and in some cases made available, on Blackboard.

Assessment Requirements

The assessment for the course will consist of two assignments, a test and a final examination.

Task	Weighting
2 Brief Assignments	10%
Test (Multiple Choice: closed book)	25%
Short Essay (2000 words)	25%
Final Examination (2 hour: closed book)	40%
Total	100%

Trimester Two final examinations occur anytime between, 17th October and Saturday, 8th November inclusive.

The Essay

You will be required to submit electronically and in hard copy an essay of not more than 2,000 words of original work by 3rd October 2008. The topic is to be chosen by your self and approved by the course coordinator by 15th August 2008. The topic is open subject to being directly related to the course content and objectives. Topics will be suggested. The essay will be screened using Turnitin.

Penalties

The penalty for late submission of coursework is 5% of the total mark available deduction per day. Assignments to be placed in box #77 of Rutherford House, Mezzanine Floor by 5pm of the day required.

Mandatory Course Requirements

Students must have a grade of at least 40% in the final examination and complete at least 2 of the other three items of assessment (i.e. 2 assignments, and the mid-term test).

Students are obliged to be present at University until the end of the examination period, Saturday 8 November 2008.

Communication of Additional Information

Communication among staff, tutors and students will commonly be by means of Blackboard. Students should regularly check Blackboard for information.

- Examinations-related information during the examination period.

To check for opening hours call the Student and Academic Services Office on (04) 463 5376.

Use of Turnitin

Student work provided for assessment in this course may be checked for academic integrity by the electronic search engine <<http://www.turnitin.com>>. Turnitin is an on-line plagiarism prevention tool which identifies material that may have been copied from other sources including the Internet, books, journals, periodicals or the work of other students. Turnitin is used to assist academic staff in detecting misreferencing, misquotation, and the inclusion of unattributed material, which may be forms of cheating or plagiarism. At the discretion of the Head of School, handwritten work may be copy-typed by the School and subject to checking by Turnitin. You are strongly advised to check with your tutor or the course coordinator if you are uncertain about how to use and cite material from other sources. Turnitin will retain a copy of submitted materials on behalf of the University for detection of future plagiarism, but access to the full text of submissions will not be made available to any other party.

General University Policies and Statutes

Students should familiarise themselves with the University's policies and statutes, particularly the Assessment Statute, the Personal Courses of Study Statute, the Statute on Student Conduct and any statutes relating to the particular qualifications being studied; see the Victoria University Calendar or go to www.victoria.ac.nz/home/about/policy/students.aspx

For information on the following topics, go to the Faculty's website www.victoria.ac.nz/fca under Important Information for Students:

- Academic Grievances
- Student and Staff Conduct
- Meeting the Needs of Students with Impairments
- Student Support

Academic Integrity and Plagiarism

Academic integrity is about honesty – put simply it means no cheating. All members of the University community are responsible for upholding academic integrity, which means staff and students are expected to behave honestly, fairly and with respect for others at all times.

Plagiarism is a form of cheating which undermines academic integrity. The University defines plagiarism as follows:

The presentation of the work of another person or other persons as if it were one's own, whether intended or not. This includes published or unpublished work, material on the Internet and the work of other students or staff.

It is still plagiarism even if you re-structure the material or present it in your own style or words.

Note: including the work of others will not be considered plagiarism as long as the work is acknowledged by appropriate referencing.

Plagiarism is prohibited at Victoria and is not worth the risk. Any enrolled student found guilty of plagiarism will be subject to disciplinary procedures under the Statute on Student Conduct and may be penalised severely. Consequences of being found guilty of plagiarism can include:

- an oral or written warning
- cancellation of your mark for an assessment or a fail grade for the course
- suspension from the course or the University.

Find out more about plagiarism, and how to avoid it, on the University's website:
