ACADEMIC INTEGRITY AND PLAGIARISM

Academic integrity means that university staff and students, in their teaching and learning are expected to treat others honestly, fairly and with respect at all times. It is not acceptable to mistreat academic, intellectual or creative work that has been done by other people by representing it as your own original work.

Academic integrity is important because it is the core value on which the University's learning, teaching and research activities are based. Victoria University's reputation for academic integrity adds value to your qualification.

The University defines plagiarism as presenting someone else's work as if it were your own, whether you mean to or not. 'Someone else's work' means anything that is not your own idea. Even if it is presented in your own style, you must acknowledge your sources fully and appropriately. This includes:

- Material from books, journals or any other printed source
- The work of other students or staff
- Information from the internet
- Software programs and other electronic material
- Designs and ideas
- The organisation or structuring of any such material

Find out more about plagiarism, how to avoid it and penalties, on the University's website: <http://www.victoria.ac.nz/home/study/plagiarism.aspx>

PART B: COURSE CONTENT, LEARNING OBJECTIVES AND LECTURE OUTLINE

COURSE PRESCRIPTION

This course focuses on the values and ideologies that underpin social policy and public policy in New Zealand. The course will examine the economic, political, and institutional arrangements within New Zealand which impact upon policy development and implementation.

COURSE CONTENT

SPOL/PUBL 113 is the introductory course for Social Policy at VUW, and one of the introductory courses for the undergraduate Public Policy programme.

The Social Policy curriculum:

- ◆ is about a wide range of questions concerning human aspirations and wellbeing
- ◆ examines the economic, social, and demographic changes that influence social policy
- ◆ involves critical reflection on the content, processes, and outcomes of social policy decisions
- ◆ explores and evaluates a range of ways societies might respond to social issues, and
- ◆ is both theoretical and applied, and students are encouraged to explore the relationships between theories and empirical/applied work

Students completing an undergraduate major in Public Policy will have an understanding of:

- ◆ The nature of the public policy process
- ◆ The relevance of values to the study and the practice of Public Policy
- ◆ The formal and informal institutional context within which the public policy process is situated, and in particular the structure and functioning of the New Zealand system of government
- ◆ The distinction between government and governance, and the implications of both for the study and practice of Public Policy
- ◆ The significance of the inter-relationship between the state and civil society for the study and practice of Public Policy

- ◆ The historical, economic, political, constitutional and philosophical context in which the policy process is situated – primarily in New Zealand, but in other jurisdictions as well - and policy decisions made
- ◆ How political, economic, and organisational theory has influenced the changing institutional context for the conduct of Public Policy
- ◆ The specific disciplinary insights that economics and politics bring to the study and the practice of Public Policy
- ◆ The range of analytical tools and methods that can be applied to the study and practice of Public Policy

Students in both Social and Public Policy will have:

- ◆ An enhanced ability to think critically and independently;
- ◆ An appetite for argument and debate;
- ◆ The ability to make their own ideas understood – in written and in oral form – and by a variety of audiences;
- ◆ Tolerance for, and openness to varied perspectives and the capacity to challenge and to accept challenge in open group discussion.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES for SPOL/PUBL 113

Students passing this course should be able to:

1. Analyze the values, morals, and beliefs underpinning social and public policies in New Zealand over the last three decades;
2. Describe the political, economic, administrative, and ideological changes and challenges that have impacted on the planning and provision of social and public policy in New Zealand;
3. Develop insight into the impacts of the Treaty of Waitangi and globalisation on New Zealand policy development and delivery;
4. Develop academic reading and writing skills;
5. Use tutorials to further understanding of current social policies issues and debates, and to appreciate different viewpoints.

PART C: TUTORIAL TOPICS AND REQUIREMENTS

TUTORIAL TIMETABLE

Students must enrol in a tutorial group online through the S-Cubed system (details available on Blackboard).

TUTORIAL OUTLINE AND READINGS

The aim of tutorials is to further your critical thinking skills by encouraging you to analyse questions, engage in critical reading, formulate arguments, and debate. You will also learn some basic research and writing skills, and have time to discuss good techniques with your tutors. It is essential that you adequately prepare for tutorials.

The following is a guideline for tutorials. Please note each tutor will organise the structure of his/her tutorials based around the topics and readings listed below. For each tutorial discussion there are a number of required readings (taken from the student notebook) and some additional recommended readings. I have set out some questions that you should be able to answer if you have critically engaged with the readings. These questions are only a guide and you should be able to add to the list.

Week 1 No tutorials

Week 2 What is policy?

Notebook reading: Bridgman and Davis; Dalton et al

Questions: What is social policy? What is public policy? What are the differences between public policy and social policy? What other types of policies do governments make?

Tutorial activity: Discuss how issues move from being private concerns to public policy concerns? And what concerns should be dealt with by 'social policy'?

Other readings: Cheyne, C., O'Brien, M. and Belgrave, M. (2008) "Introduction" in Social Policy in Aotearoa/New Zealand: A Critical Introduction, Auckland: OUP

Duncan, G. (2007) "Chapter One" in Society and Politics: New Zealand Social Policy, Auckland: Pearson Education New Zealand.

Shaw, R. and C. Eichbaum (2008) "Chapter 1: What is Public Policy?" in Public Policy in New Zealand Auckland: Pearson Education New Zealand.

Week 3 The state and policy making processes

Notebook reading: New Zealand Planning Council (1982) "Chapter 2: Model of Social Policy Formulation"

Other reading: Shaw and Eichbaum Chapters 4, 5, and 6

Questions: Who is involved in making policy in New Zealand? What are the roles of the parliament, the government, and the cabinet/executive in policy making? What roles do government departments/public servants/bureaucrats play in the policy process?

Week 4 Exploring some constraints on policy processes

Notebook readings: Hayward and Barney readings from notebook.

Other readings: Barrett, M. and Connolly-Stone, K. (1998) "The Treaty of Waitangi and Social Policy" Social Policy Journal of New Zealand, Issue 11, December 1998, pp. 29-48.

Questions: What is globalisation? What impact does it have on social and public policy? How does globalisation challenge policy makers in New Zealand?

What Principles of the Treaty of Waitangi are part of New Zealand policy development? How are Principles determined? What are the implications of the Treaty of Waitangi on social policy development?

Week 5 What processes are used in policy-making? What values inform policy making?

Notebook readings: T. Dalton et. al; T. Tenbensen and R. Gauld; Goodin, et. al. (1999) Wilkinson (1995); Commission on Social Justice (2000)

Other readings: Shaw and Eichbaum (2008) Chapters 2 to 6. Cheyne, C., O'Brien, M. and Belgrave, M. (2008) 'Chapter 3.'

Questions: Who should be involved in policy making? What role do politicians play in policy making? What role do public servants play in policy making? What role do interest groups play in policy making?

What processes are often followed in policy-making? Why do we need models of policy making? What are the main differences/similarities between the rationalist, stakeholder, participatory, and neo-liberal models of policy making?

Tutorial activity: Compare and contrast the different models of policy making which are explored by Tenbensen and Gauld..

Questions: What are some reasons for having social and public policy? Why should we be concerned about poverty? What types of social equality might a state advocate? What is autonomy and freedom? Is it possible to balance freedom and equality? What do economists mean when they discuss efficiency? What is the best mechanism to achieve economic efficiency? What does the term social justice mean?

Tutorial activity: Debate whether the government's role is to promote social equality, social justice, or economic efficiency?

Week 6 No tutorial

Week 7 What values and ideologies inform policy choices?

Notebook readings: Green (1998); Heywood (1992).

Other reading: Cheyne, C., O'Brien, M. and Belgrave, M. (2008) 'Chapter 4.'

Questions: What is neo-liberalism? How are rights discussed within a neo-liberal ideology? Who is responsible for welfare according to neo-liberals? Are neo-liberals more interested in freedom or equality? What type of equality is favoured by neo-liberals?

What is conservatism? What are conservatives seeking from political elite and policy processes? How do social groups form according to conservatives? What values are important to conservatives? What is the relationship between conservatism and the New Right?

What philosophies are combined in the ideology of Social Democracy? How do Social Democrats view the state? What views do Social Democrats hold of capitalism? What is Keynesian economic management?

Tutorial activity: Map out the values evident within the policy approaches of the New Zealand Labour and National parties. Discuss what ideological leaning these two major political parties hold.

Week 8 Values and the 'welfare state'

Notebook readings: J. A. Davey (2001);

Other readings: Margaret McClure (1998) 'A Civilised Community': The origins of the Social Security Act, 1929-1939. A Civilised Community: A History of Social Security in New Zealand 1898-1998 Auckland: Auckland University Press

Cheyne, C., O'Brien, M. and Belgrave, M. (2008) 'Chapter 2'.

Bronwyn Dalley and Margaret Tenant (eds) (2004) Past judgement: social policy in New Zealand history Dunedin: University of Otago Press.

Cradle to grave [videorecording].

Questions: What is egalitarianism? When is New Zealand's welfare state said to start? What is universalism? What is targeting? Who were the 'deserving poor'? What is Keynesianism? What types of rights are appealed to in relation to welfare provision? What influences social policy according to Judith Davey?

What is social justice? Are all inequalities unjustified?

Tutorial activity: Debate the principles of universal provision of welfare or targeted provision.

Week 9 Changing values, changing welfare

Notebook readings: C. Rudd (1999); R. Douglas (1993); J. Shipley (1998); A Giddens (2002); Eichbaum (2006).

Other readings: Roper, B. (2008) 'The welfare state: origins, development, crisis, and redesign.' In Lunt et al (ed) New Zealand, new welfare.

Revolution [videorecording]. Someone else's country [videorecording].

Duncan, G. (2007) "Chapter Seven" and "Chapter Eight"

Muriel Newman (2003) "ACT's welfare vision" in Liberal Thinking Wellington: ACT New Zealand.

Questions: What size should the state be according to neo-liberal proponents? When did neo-liberalism 'take hold' in New Zealand?

What is the third way or new social democracy? How does the third way vary from neo-liberalism? How does the third way vary from Keynesianism? How do ideologies impact upon social policy? What is meant by social development? What is globalisation? Is globalisation inevitable? Why are global markets important in terms of social policy? Does the third way advocate for government responsibility for welfare? How is individual responsibility viewed under both neo-liberalism and the third way?

Tutorial activity: Critique the concept of social development from neo-liberal and Keynesian perspectives.

Week 10 Economic Policy and Politics

Notebook reading. T. Hazeldine (1998).

Other readings: Shaw and Eichbaum (2008) Chapter 12 'Economics, politics and policy making'; Goldfinch, S, (2000) 'the Influence of Economic Ideas in Economic Policy making' Remaking New Zealand and Australian economic policy: ideas, institutions and policy communities Victoria University Press: Wellington [Can be read on google books].

Questions: How does neo-classical economic theory differ from Keynesian theory? What was the Fiscal Responsibility Act? What is the Public Finance Act? What is the role of the Reserve Bank? What did the Reserve Bank of New Zealand Act 1989 do?

Week 11 Health Policy and Politics.

Notebook reading: Cummings and Mays (2002)

Other readings: Chapter 10 of Cheyne, C., O'Brien, M. and Belgrave, M., (2008) Social Policy in Aotearoa/New Zealand: A Critical Introduction, Auckland: OUP

Questions: How can the value of efficiency justify public provision of health care? What other values are relevant to health policy debates? What are the arguments in favour of universal provision? What arguments favour targeted provision? How is New Zealand's health care system funded? What alternative methods of financing health care are used in other countries? What organizations are involved in organizing and delivering health care and disability support services in NZ? What different roles are involved in the delivery of services? What is meant by the “purchaser provider split” and what was the rationale behind it?

Week 12 Exam revision

ILLNESS AND MEETING THE ASSESSMENT REQUIREMENTS OF THE COURSE

If illness or bereavement prevents you from submitting an assignment by the due date, then you may be given an extension of time. Extensions on the basis of personal circumstances will also be considered. Any requests for extension must be discussed with Carol Harrington.

Note however, that extensions must be applied for before the date on which the assignment is due, and that the period of extension will not exceed the period of illness. You may be asked to produce a medical certificate.

EXAMINATION

The final examination in the course is conducted by the Faculty of Humanities and Social Sciences. Students who are unable to sit the examination because of ill health or whose preparation for the examination is affected by illness or disability should consult the University Calendar or Faculty Office about the options that may be open to them. The examination will take place during the examination period of 15 June to 4 July 2012.

PART D: COURSE ASSESSMENT REQUIREMENTS

MANDATORY COURSE REQUIREMENTS

To meet mandatory course requirements students must:

- ❖ submit two assignments;
- ❖ sit the examination.

Students will not pass the course if they have not submitted BOTH assignments and sat the final examination, regardless of how many marks they earn.

DETAILS OF ASSESSMENT

Assessment will be by a combination of internally assessed assignments and a final examination. The schedule of work and the manner in which the final grade will be calculated is shown below:

	Weighting	Due Date
Assignment 1	30%	Tuesday April 3 by 4pm
Assignment 2	20%	Thursday June 7 by 4 pm
Final Examination	50%	during examination period, details tbc

ASSESSMENTS

ASSIGNMENT 1 (Learning objectives 2, 3 & 4)

Due date: April 3 by 4pm.

Word Limit: 2000

Weighting: 30%

1. Why do Dalton et al. claim that policy making is a 'contest over social issues'? What actors and institutions are involved in this contest in the context of New Zealand public policy? Discuss in relation to specific example(s) of public policy.
2. Describe the relationship between cabinet, parliament, and public servants in the New Zealand policy making process, and discuss the strengths and weaknesses of this system of government. Your discussion should compare the New Zealand system to alternative constitutional arrangements.
3. Discuss the constitutional status of the Treaty of Waitangi and how the Treaty and its principles have been incorporated into New Zealand legislation. Provide at least one example.
4. Discuss a particular claim under the Treaty of Waitangi that reveals how interpretations of the Treaty have changed over time. Your essay should demonstrate knowledge of institutions and organizations involved in the Treaty process.

5. Compare the rational, stakeholder and participatory models of policy-making, how useful are these models for analysing the policy process? Support your argument with examples.
6. Different roles are prescribed to bureaucrats in the stakeholder, rational and participatory policy models. Discuss these differences and their impact upon the processes of policy-making.
7. Barney and Mishra argue that a consequence of globalisation has been a deterioration of the nation-states' ability to organize their economic and social priorities according to domestic concerns. Discuss this claim in terms of New Zealand public policy making.

ASSIGNMENT 2 Essay (Learning objectives 1, 2, 3 & 4)

Due date: June 7 by 4pm

Word Limit: 1500

Weighting: 20%

1. Explain the major ideologies that dominated the 'golden era' of welfare provision in New Zealand.
2. Discuss the Keynesian Welfare State of the mid 20th century from a feminist or anti-racist perspective.
3. Discuss the ideological positions and values behind calls for social policy development and service provision 'by Maori for Maori' or 'by women for women.'
4. Discuss the core values of conservatism and how these values have influenced New Zealand public policy. Provide examples.
5. Discuss the role of the state from the perspective of social democracy, neo-liberalism, and the 'third way'.
6. Discuss the core values appealed to under the neo-liberal ideology and how these values have influenced New Zealand public policy since the 1980s.
7. Discuss an example, or examples blended appeals to neo-liberal and conservative values that have influenced New Zealand public policy.
8. Explore how the value of efficiency is used to justify public provision of goods and services in ONE of the following social policy areas: social security; education; health; and housing.

FINAL EXAMINATION (Learning objectives 1, 2 and 3)

Weighting: 50%

This is a 2-hour examination and counts for 50% of the total course mark. It is a 'closed book' examination requiring students to answer three essay questions. The examination will take place during the examination period of 15 June to 4 July 2012. Consult your exam timetable available on your "my Victoria" page for the time and place.

PART E: COURSE ASSESSMENT PROTOCOLS AND PROCEDURES

HANDING IN ESSAY AND OTHER WRITTEN ASSIGNMENTS

When?

It is the policy of the School of Social and Cultural Studies that all written assignments must be handed in by 4 pm on the due date.

Where?

Assignments must be place in the assignment box located to the left side of the lifts on level 9, Murphy Building.

Assignments MUST NOT be placed in individual staff pigeonholes, or under staff office doors, or handed to lecturers or tutors. This is to ensure that all work is properly recorded when submitted, and to avoid problems that have arisen in the past when work has "gone missing".

At 4 pm the assignment box is emptied, the work date-stamped and its receipt recorded, and then handed to the appropriate markers.

School Cover Sheet

Please include a School Cover sheet when submitting your assignments. You may wish to have your own front sheet, but please ensure you place the School's cover sheet on the top as this ensures critical identifying information is provided. A sample School Cover sheet is at the end of this Outline. Further copies may be found at the School Administration office, and on the Assignment Box, on level 9 of Murphy building.

Students MUST keep a photocopy of every written assignment

Unless students have followed this procedure, the School will not accept responsibility for pieces of written work claimed to have been handed in.

GRADES

The following table sets out the range of marks within which each letter grade is assigned. Your final grade and marks for the course will be an aggregate of the grades you achieve during the course.

Pass	A+	85% or over	Evidence of familiarity with relevant reading and sound understanding of concepts, plus individual interpretation and insights of a higher order. An A grade will not be achieved without such insight. Work well presented with logical structure and clarity of expression.
	A	80%-84%
	A-	75%-79%

B+	70-74%	As above, but less individual insight and preparation.
B	65%-69%	High level of understanding exhibited. Assignment well presented.
B-	60%-64%
C+	55%-59%	Work lacks originality, individual insights is not strong on understanding. However, material used is relevant and presentation is satisfactory.
C	50%-54%

Fail	D	40%-49%	Little evidence of reading or comprehension. No insight. Poor presentation.
	E	Below 40%	A clear failure to reach an adequate standard on the criteria set out.

Appendix A (page 25) includes information about the preferred format for referencing and bibliographies for this course.

LATE PENALTIES

Late submissions for student assignments in all Sociology and Social Policy undergraduate courses are subject to a penalty. The exact deduction will be calculated on the basis of one half mark per day late for each 10 marks, i.e. 1 mark will be deducted each day for an assignment worth 20% of the total course mark.

Note that assessment work will not be accepted for marking more than 7 days after the due date or 7 days after an approved extension date. Work must still, however, be submitted to meet the mandatory course requirements.

EXTENSIONS

If you are given an extension, a new submission date will be identified and you will have to submit the work in the same manner as above by 4 p.m. on that day. Failure to do so will result in penalties being applied in the same manner as those for the original submission date.

Also, see information on requesting extensions on page 15 of this Outline.

PART F: COURSE READINGS

SET TEXTS

The set text for this course is a book of prepared student notes, retail price $18.70. Please ensure you buy a copy.

All undergraduate textbooks and student notes will be sold from the Memorial Theatre foyer from 13 February to 16 March 2012, while postgraduate textbooks and student notes will be available from the top floor of vicbooks in the Student Union Building, Kelburn Campus. After week two of the trimester all undergraduate textbooks and student notes will be sold from vicbooks on Level 4 of the Student Union Building.

GOVERNMENT AND OTHER WEB SITES

All government departments have their own websites where you can access the latest information on policies and strategies. Most departments also have publications such as policy documents, briefing papers etc. listed on their web page which you can usually view, download, save or print out. All government websites have a web address that goes www. [and then an abbreviation of the department's name] govt.nz. For example:

Ministry of Social Development is <http://www.msd.govt.nz>

Treasury is <http://www.treasury.govt.nz>

Child Youth and Family it is <http://www.cyf.govt.nz/>

Te Puni Kokiri it is <http://www.tpk.govt.nz>

For Cabinet press releases and ministerial speeches go to www.beehive.govt.nz

In addition the website: www.stuff.co.nz which is the combined website of a number of New Zealand newspapers, has on-line access to both national and international headlines and news. You can also get free 'headlines alert' emailed to you daily. Scoop, <http://www.scoop.co.nz/> is a Wellington based Internet news agency, which also offers a free emailing service for news on current events.

If you are going to use websites for academic research, please ensure you are going to a reputable source (such as Government Departments). It is NOT acceptable to use sites such as Wikipedia as a final source for essays.

ADDITIONAL READINGS

A list of additional readings is set down for each of the modules in this course. It is not expected that students will read all of the books listed below, but that these additional readings will be used selectively. Also students are encouraged to look beyond the lists provided, as there are many more texts on social policy in the Victoria University Library. You will be given a self-paced tutorial to help familiarise you with the VUW library catalogue and databases during Week 3 of the course.

As well as searching for books students are encouraged to search for journal articles on social policy topics. Journals often contain more up-to-date discussions of current social policy issues and debates. In the VUW library you can use the computers behind the information desk on the second floor to search journals on-line. Three databases that are particularly relevant for social policy are 'Expanded Academic', 'Proquest' and the 'International Bibliography of the Social Sciences'.

A number of journals are recommended for students in this course:

- Critical social policy
- Policy quarterly
- Political science
- Social policy journal of New Zealand

If you require help, any of the librarians will help you to do on-line searches. You may also want to attend one of the library database sessions that run throughout the semester. Details of up-coming library sessions are available on the Library homepage at <http://www.vuw.ac.nz/library/instruction/index.aspx>

Enjoy the journey.

APPENDIX A

REFERENCES

The preferred style of referencing for this course is in-text rather than footnotes, i.e. information about the source of the reference is added into the text. This includes the author, date of publication and, where appropriate, the page number. For example:

A study of organisational behaviour showed (Howat 1985) a link between...
Clerehan (1989) showed in her study...
In a study of gender differences ... (Mills 1988:22).

Full details of all references are to be listed in the bibliography at the end of the assignment.

Please make sure you reference not only direct quotes and statistics, but also all ideas and information sourced from other material.

BIBLIOGRAPHIES

All references from the assignment should be listed on a separate page at the end of the assignment in alphabetical order by the author's surname. List only those directly cited.

An acceptable format is: Author's surname, initials (date of publication) Title of book (in italics) Publisher: place published. See the list of recommended readings in this course outline for examples of references in this format.

For information sourced from websites, the format is: Name of website, author (if given) title or heading of article (if given), full web address, the date (day/month/year) you accessed the information.

The main thing to remember is to be consistent and careful with your presentation, particularly with punctuation. Depending on the type of reference source used, a different format may be required.
