Disclosure of Personal Information Procedures

1. Purpose
   The purpose of these Procedures is to ensure that Staff Members and Students understand when Personal Information may be disclosed to third parties and how to do so in a way that complies with the Privacy Policy and the Privacy Act 2020.

2. Application
   Privacy is everyone’s responsibility. These Procedures apply to:

   (a) Staff Members who may be required to collect, access, use or disclose Personal Information, who may manage projects or systems that impact on Personal Information management, or who are responsible for making policy decisions about the way the University manages Personal Information; and

   (b) Students who collect, access, use or disclose Personal Information in the course of their studies or research or are otherwise permitted access to Personal Information held by the University.

Procedures

3. Routine disclosures of Personal Information
   3.1 The University can routinely disclose Personal Information to a third party:

      (a) where disclosure to that third party is the purpose, or one of the purposes, for which the Personal Information was collected;

      Note: To find out the purpose for which the Personal Information was collected, refer to the Privacy Notice

      (b) if the disclosure is covered by the Privacy Notice or a specific privacy notice relating to the particular disclosure;

      Note: To find out whether the disclosure is covered by the Privacy Notice, check “who do we share information with”

      (c) if the disclosure is for a purpose that is directly related to the purpose for which the Personal Information was collected. However, before disclosing Personal Information for a directly related purpose, the Discloser should seek the advice of their manager or supervisor and/or the Privacy Officer.

4. Non-routine disclosures of Personal Information
   4.1 The University may need to disclose Personal Information in ways that are non-routine and may not have been covered by any privacy notice (such as in response to a request by a third party). These disclosures are acceptable, provided they are legitimate and have a lawful basis.

   4.2 A Discloser must, when considering a non-routine disclosure, use the following process and set of questions to determine whether or not they may disclose Personal Information:

<tr>

<th>Guidance</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1  Is it possible to ask the Individual to authorise the disclosure?</td>
<td>Disclosers must first consider obtaining the authorisation of the Individual to disclose Personal Information in a non-routine way. However, where authorisation is not practicable, there may be another lawful basis to disclose.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
| 2  Has the University received a request from a third party for Personal Information about someone else? | Requests for personal information made by a third party (including a media agency) will be managed by the Privacy Officer under the Official Information Act 1982, or under other legislation as appropriate.
Deceased Individuals – the University can release Personal Information (other than medical information) to the family of deceased Individuals. However, before doing so, you should satisfy yourself that the Individual is actually deceased (for example, searching death notices or other public notifications) |
| 3  Is the University under a legal obligation to disclose?              | The University may be legally required to disclose Personal Information in some circumstances.                                                                                                                |
| • Some legislation (including the Coroners Act 2006 and Health Act 1956) authorise certain agencies to compel the release of Personal Information. These provisions override the Privacy Act.
• Law enforcement agencies may provide the University with a Production Order which would compel the University to release Personal Information. Any requests from law enforcement agencies must be referred to the Director, Student Academic Services (for requests relating to Students), the Director, Human Resources (for requests relating to Staff Members) or the Privacy Officer. |                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| 4  Can the University rely on any other exception to disclose?          | If none of the above apply and the Discloser still believes it is necessary to disclose personal information, they must be able to rely on an exception to Information Privacy Principle 11 of the Privacy Act 2020. The Discloser must consult with the Privacy Officer first. |
5. Disclosures generally

5.1 Whenever Personal Information is disclosed, the Discloser must ensure that:

(a) they disclose Personal Information only to the extent that this is strictly necessary to meet the relevant purpose or purposes;

(b) wherever possible, Personal Information is anonymised before it is disclosed; and

(c) where the disclosure occurs using an information system, that the disclosure is secure and operates in accordance with the University’s Information Systems policies.

5.2 A researcher using research data that includes Personal Information must comply with the Privacy Framework, the Human Ethics Policy, the Human Ethics Guidelines, and the terms of any applicable ethics approval.

Note – researchers can contact the Research Office for advice around the management and use of research data

6. Disclosures overseas or to a contracted service provider

6.1 Before Personal Information is disclosed to a contracted service provider or an overseas recipient, the Discloser must ensure that the service provider or overseas recipient is required and able to provide an adequate level of protection to the Personal Information shared.

6.2 The University must not disclose Personal Information to an overseas recipient unless:

(a) The recipient is in a country that has equivalent privacy laws in place (such as any EU Member State, Andorra, Argentina, Australia, Canada, Faroe Islands, Guernsey, Israel, Isle of Man, Japan, Jersey, Singapore, Switzerland, United Kingdom and Uruguay);

(b) There are reasonable grounds to believe the recipient can provide comparable safeguards to those required by the Privacy Act (such as an agreement for cross-border transfer of data entered into between the University and the recipient);

Note: The University has a template agreement for cross-border transfer of data available from Legal Services. This should be used for any disclosure of Personal Information to an overseas recipient outside the countries in (a) above.

(c) The recipient is a Contracted Service Provider who is approved by Digital Solutions and who is storing or processing the Personal Information on the University’s behalf; or

(d) The Individual has given their express consent to the disclosure.

Note: In order to give express consent, the Individual must be informed that the recipient may not be required to protect the information in a way that, overall, provides comparable safeguards to those in the Privacy Act 2020
