POLITICAL SCIENCE AND INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS PROGRAMME
2009 TRIMESTERS 1 & 2

INTP586: APPROACHES TO INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS
CRN 15521

Trimester 1: 2 March to 1 July 2009

Lecturer:	Dr Robbie Shilliam
Room:	Murphy 509
Phone:	463 5613
Email:	robbie.shilliam@vuw.ac.nz
Seminar Times:	Wednesdays, 4.10pm - 6.30pm
Venue:	Murphy 103
Office Hours:	Fridays, 2pm - 4pm, MY509

Course delivery:

The course is taught via a weekly seminar over two trimesters. There is a final examination that will occur in the end-of-year examination period from 19th October to 15th November 2009. The exact date for the examination will be released during Trimester 2.

Attendance at and active participation in all seminars is compulsory unless a specific arrangement has been made otherwise. Students may miss up to two seminars without penalty; absences beyond that number will be taken into account when calculating the final grade. PLEASE NOTE: THERE IS NO PROVISION FOR MAKE-UP EXERCISES IN THIS COURSE TO COMPENSATE FOR ADDITIONAL ABSENCES EXCEPT UNDER THOSE CIRCUMSTANCES. You should allow for the possibility of unforeseen illness when using up your quota of permissible absences.

Communication of additional information:

All additional information will be communicated via Blackboard. It is important that you check Blackboard regularly.

Course content:

The aim of the first part of this course is to introduce students to the main concepts utilised within the International Relations discipline (IR), as well as the main theoretical approaches. We shall examine the debates over these theoretical approaches, and we shall also explore the contested nature of the concepts used. We start by looking at some influential conceptualisations of the specific constitution of the modern world order. We then move onto investigating both orthodox and un-orthodox theoretical approaches to IR. A full reading list is provided below.

Learning objectives:

A student who has achieved a standard of work and understanding sufficient to pass the course will:

- Understand some of the key theoretical and practical issues that are presently debated in the International Relations discipline;
- Have some empirical knowledge of events and circumstances that are referenced by debates in the discipline;
- Be able to critically analyse issues and events in IR;
- Be able to use both parts of the course to make the connection between theoretical frameworks for the study of IR and international practice; and
- Be able to use terminology and concepts introduced in both parts of the course to interpret contemporary international issues and events.

NB: These objectives are for the course as a whole, i.e. both parts 1 and 2.

As with all POLS and INTP courses, learning objectives of this course contribute to the attainment of specific attributes in the areas of critical thinking, creative thinking, communication and leadership. Please consult the Programme Prospectus 2009, p. 10, for more details or on our website <http://www.victoria.ac.nz/pols/>

Expected workload:

In accordance with Faculty Guidelines, this course has been constructed on the assumption that students will devote 18 hours per week to the course. This includes time in seminars.

Essential readings:

Any standard textbook on international relations will cover aspects of the course, but the course content will follow the assigned readings lists that will be distributed throughout. For a general overview of IR, you may wish to refer to the following texts that are available from the Library:

1. Joshua Goldstein, International Relations, Brief 3rd Ed., (Pearson Longman, 2005);
2. Scott Burchill, et al., Theories of International Relations, 3rd Ed., (Palgrave Macmillan, 2005);
3. Baylis and Smith, The Globalization of World Politics: An Introduction to International Relations, (Oxford University Press, 2005);
4. David N. Balaam and Michael Veseth, Introduction to International Political Economy, (Prentice Hall, 1996; and
5. Theodore H. Cohn, Global Political Economy: Theory and Practice, 3rd Ed., (Pearson, 2005).

Customers can order textbooks and student notes online at www.vicbooks.co.nz or can email an order or enquiry to enquiries@vicbooks.co.nz. Books can be couriered to customers or they can be picked up from the shop the day after placing an order online.

Opening hours are 8.00 am – 6.00 pm, Monday – Friday during term time (closing at 5.00 pm in the holidays)

10.00 am – 1.00 pm Saturdays.

Assessment requirements:

1. Written Assignments: one due each week for the duration of both Trimester 1 and 2, each approximately one page in length. The averaged grade is worth a total of 50% of your final course grade.

You must write your assignment in the form of an answer to one of the questions posed that week in the reading list. If you wish to formulate your own question, you must clear it with me beforehand.

2. One research essay: due 13th July, of 2,500 words. Worth 20% of final grade. You must write your research essay in the form of an answer to one of the questions posed at the END OF THIS COURSE OUTLINE. If you wish to formulate your own question, you must clear it with me beforehand.

2. Examination, duration 3 hours, worth 30% of your final course grade. The exam will take place at the end of Trimester 2 in the exam period sometime between 19th October and 15th November 2008. Exact dates will be posted in Trimester 2 nearer the time.

Return of assignments:

Weekly assignments will be returned during the following seminar. The research essay will be returned approximately two weeks after the submission deadline. They will be available for picking up from the PSIR office, 5th floor Murphy Building, but only between 12 and 2pm.

Penalties:

Students will be penalised for late submission of essays – a deduction of 5% for the first day late, and 2% per day thereafter, up to a maximum of 8 days. Work that is more than 8 days late can be accepted for mandatory course requirements but will not be marked. However, penalties may be waived if there are valid grounds (for example, illness [presentation of a medical certificate will be necessary] or similar other contingencies). In all such cases, prior information will be necessary.

Mandatory course requirements:

To gain a pass in this course each student must:

- a) Submit the written work specified for this course, on or by the specified dates (subject to such provisions as are stated for late submission of work);

AND

- b) Take the final exam.

Statement on legibility:

Students are expected to write clearly. Where work is deemed 'illegible', the options are:

- the student will be given a photocopy of the work and asked to transcribe it to an acceptable standard (preferably typed) within a specified time frame after which penalties will apply
- the student will be given a photocopy of the work and asked to transcribe it to an acceptable standard (preferably typed) and lateness penalties apply
- if the student does not transcribe it to an acceptable standard, the work will be accepted as 'received' (so any associated mandatory course requirements are met) but not marked.

Academic integrity and plagiarism:

Academic integrity means that university staff and students, in their teaching and learning are expected to treat others honestly, fairly and with respect at all times. It is not acceptable to mistreat academic, intellectual or creative work that has been done by other people by representing it as your own original work.

Academic integrity is important because it is the core value on which the University's learning, teaching and research activities are based. Victoria University's reputation for academic integrity adds value to your qualification.

The University defines plagiarism as presenting someone else's work as if it were your own, whether you mean to or not. 'Someone else's work' means anything that is not your own idea. Even if it is presented in your own style, you must acknowledge your sources fully and appropriately. This includes:

- Material from books, journals or any other printed source
- The work of other students or staff
- Information from the internet
- Software programs and other electronic material
- Designs and ideas
- The organisation or structuring of any such material

Find out more about plagiarism, how to avoid it and penalties, on the University's website: <http://www.victoria.ac.nz/home/study/plagiarism.aspx>

GENERAL UNIVERSITY POLICIES AND STATUTES

Students should familiarise themselves with the University's policies and statutes, particularly the Assessment Statute, the Personal Courses of Study Statute, the Statute on Student Conduct and any statutes relating to the particular qualifications being studied; see the Victoria University Calendar or go to the Academic Policy and Student Policy sections on:

<http://www.victoria.ac.nz/home/about/policy>

This website also provides information for students in a number of areas including Academic Grievances, Student and Staff conduct, Meeting the needs of students with impairments, and student support/VUWSA student advocates.

MAINSTREAM APPROACHES TO IR

5: Liberalism and ideas of universal progress

Questions:

- How do liberal theories of IR explain the relationship between the domestic and the international sphere?
- Who is more optimistic about the future of humanity: Kant or Wilson?

Readings:

- Doyle, M.W. 1993. "Liberalism and International Relations". In Kant and Political Philosophy: the Contemporary Legacy, edited by Ronald, B. New Haven: Yale University Press: 173-203
- Immanuel Kant, "Idea for a Universal History with a Cosmopolitan Purpose (1784)", Political Writings (Cambridge, 1991)
- Woodrow Wilson "The Coming Age of Peace (1918)", in E. Luard, Basic Texts in International Relations (1992)

Further readings: (see also the readings on the "First Great Debate" in next week's list)

- Rostow, W.W., 1991. The Stages of Economic Growth: A Non-Communist Manifesto, Cambridge: Cambridge University Press. Very famous tract. Wilson updated for the Cold War?
- Frances Fukuyama, "The End of History?" National Interest 1989. Very influential, written at the end of the Cold War. Compare with Kant and Wilson. Is Fukuyama saying the same thing? And is he an optimist?
- Angell, Norman, "The Quest for Enlightenment," in Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, Perspectives on Peace. 1910-1960, London: Stevens & Sons Ltd, 1960, pp. 177-194. Angell is taken to be one of the quintessential liberal internationalists of the inter-war period.
- Lloyd Ambrosius, "Woodrow Wilson and The Birth of a Nation: American Democracy and International Relations", Diplomacy & Statecraft, 18:4 (2007). A critique of President Woodrow Wilson, and the racist elements of his political thought that lay behind his support of the League of Nations.
