Lecture Times: Monday and Tuesday 4.00 pm – 6.00 pm
Venue: Murphy (MY) LT 103

Additional Information:

Any additional information or handouts will be announced, circulated in the lectures or via Blackboard.

Course content:

The course introduces students, not only to the specific arguments of Indian philosophers on problems such as causality, relevance, suffering, liberation and harmony, but also to questions and issues relevant to philosophy in general. This course will also emphasise some of the distinctive features of Indian philosophy such as the ultimate goal of life, and our duties towards other beings. See separate handout entitled 'Reading List and Course Outline'.

Learning objectives:

By the end of the course, students should:

- (a) be familiar with some of the systems of Indian philosophy such as Samkhya, Yoga, Nyaya, and Buddhism;
- (b) be aware of their metaphysical and epistemological positions;
- (c) be able to compare and contrast the arguments of philosophers from different standpoints.

Graduate attributes:

As with all PHIL courses, learning objectives of this course contribute to the attainment of specific attributes in the areas of logical and critical thinking, conceptual analysis and rational and ethical decision-making. Please consult the Programme Prospectus 2009, p. 7, for more details or on our website <http://www.victoria.ac.nz/phil/degrees/index.aspx>

Expected workload:

In accordance with Faculty Guidelines, this course has been constructed on the assumption that students will devote 15 hours per week to PHIL 205. This includes 3 hours of lectures and a one-hour tutorial per week.

Assessment requirements:

One three-hour final registry examination and one essay. The marks for the essay will determine 40% of the final assessment and the marks for the three-hour examination will determine 60% of the final assessment.

The mid-year examination period is from Friday 12 June to Wednesday 1 July 2009.

Final Essay: The final essay will be due on 5 May, 2009. An essay may not exceed 3,000 words. Overlaps between exam and essay topics are to be avoided.

Method of Submission:

All final essays are to be submitted digitally in Blackboard.

Directions for submission via Blackboard:

- click on the ‘Assignments’ icon in the course menu (to the left of the page).
- select ‘View/Complete Assignment’ for the relevant assignment.
- click the ‘Browse’ icon, and then select your essay.
- then click ‘Submit’.

Optional Essays:

Students are encouraged to write two essays during the course. These essays are optional and not part of the final assessment. They will be commented on and returned to the candidates with broad letter grades. The optional essays should be submitted on the following dates: 20 April 2009; 8 May 2009.

Penalties

Students will be penalised for late submission of essays – a deduction of 2% for the first day late, and 1% per day thereafter, up to a maximum of 8 days. Work that is more than 8 days late can be accepted for mandatory course requirements but will not be marked. However, penalties may be waived if there are valid grounds (for example, illness [presentation of a medical certificate will be necessary] or similar other contingencies). In all such cases, prior information will be necessary.

Return of assignments

In-class tests, essays will be held in the main office of the Philosophy Programme (MY 518) and will be made available for pick-up roughly 2 weeks after the test. They can be picked up between 2.00 – 3.00 pm. Essays will have made available on Blackboard roughly 2 weeks after submission.

Academic integrity and plagiarism

Academic integrity means that university staff and students, in their teaching and learning are expected to treat others honestly, fairly and with respect at all times. It is not acceptable to mistreat academic, intellectual or creative work that has been done by other people by representing it as your own original work.

Academic integrity is important because it is the core value on which the University's learning, teaching and research activities are based. Victoria University's reputation for academic integrity adds value to your qualification.

The University defines plagiarism as presenting someone else's work as if it were your own, whether you mean to or not. 'Someone else's work' means anything that is not your own idea. Even if it is presented in your own style, you must acknowledge your sources fully and appropriately. This includes:

- Material from books, journals or any other printed source
- The work of other students or staff
- Information from the internet
- Software programs and other electronic material
- Designs and ideas
- The organisation or structuring of any such material

Find out more about plagiarism, how to avoid it and penalties, on the University's website: <http://www.victoria.ac.nz/home/study/plagiarism.aspx>

GENERAL UNIVERSITY POLICIES AND STATUTES

Students should familiarise themselves with the University's policies and statutes, particularly the Assessment Statute, the Personal Courses of Study Statute, the Statute on Student Conduct and any statutes relating to the particular qualifications being studied; see the Victoria University Calendar or go to the Academic Policy and Student Policy sections on:

<http://www.victoria.ac.nz/home/about/policy>

This website also provides information for students in a number of areas including Academic Grievances, Student and Staff conduct, Meeting the needs of students with impairments, and student support/VUWSA student advocates.
