9. Learning objectives

By the end of the course, students should be able to:

1. Outline theories of how English has spread in space and time over the past four centuries.
2. Identify a range of distinguishing linguistic and lexical features of NZE.
3. Indicate how NZE relates to varieties of English elsewhere in the world
4. Discuss problems involved in identifying sources of NZE.
5. Assess the evidence for regional variation in New Zealand English
6. Identify the non-linguistic (social and cultural) variables that influence linguistic and discourse variation in New Zealand English.
7. Describe the relationships between attitudes to New Zealand English and sociolinguistic patterns of language use.

The first assignment will provide students with an opportunity to explore a selected area of NZ English vocabulary and to demonstrate familiarity with the lexical features of NZ English and with the relationship between NZE and other varieties of English (objectives 2, 3, 4, 5, 6). Your preparation for this assignment will be of a cumulative nature, comprising material arising from lectures, tutorials, and independent reading.

The second assignment will provide students with an opportunity to assess theories and characteristics of NZE phonology and students' ability to apply sociolinguistic theory and methodology to the analysis of New Zealand English (objectives 2, 4 and 5). The final examination will provide an opportunity for students to demonstrate their grasp of all of the course objectives.

10. Expected workload

In order to make satisfactory progress in this course you should expect to devote, on average, 13 hours a week to it. This includes attendance at lectures and tutorials, preparation for tutorials, background reading and preparation for tests and assignments. Some students will find they need to do more than this, and students aiming for high grades will almost certainly need to do more.

11. Readings

(i) The recommended texts for this course are:

- Bell, Allan and Koenraad Kuiper (eds) 2000. New Zealand English. Wellington:Victoria University Press.
- Gordon, Elizabeth et al (eds) 2004. New Zealand English: its origins and evolution. Cambridge UK: Cambridge University Press.
- Hay, Jennifer et al 2008. New Zealand English: Dialects of English. Edinburgh: Edinburgh University Press.

You should regard these as essential reading. A guide to preparatory reading for each lecture is provided.

(ii) Coursebook

Every student will need to bring a copy of the Coursebook (version 1.6, obtainable at a cost of approximately $25.00 from the Kelburn Notes Shop) to all classes.

(iii) The Bibliography for the Course is in the LING 322 Coursebook. It contains resource material for background reading on all the topics covered in the course. A style sheet is also included in the Coursebook.

12. Assessment requirements

Assignment Two: NZE phonology	due 27 May	30%	word limit 2000
Final examination	In exam period 11 June – 4 July	40%	3 hours

Assignments should be handed in to one of the Administrative Assistants of the School of Linguistics and Applied Language Studies (VZ 210). It is important to keep a back-up copy of your assignment.

N.B. Note that if no work is submitted for assessment before the last three weeks of teaching, there will be nothing on which to base an aegrotat consideration.

Submitting assignments and tasks

General guidelines

- Set margins to at least 2.5 cm
- Set line spacing to 1.5
- Set font size of 12 point

- Include page numbers
- Include a title page which shows the course number and name, your name, the course lecturer, the title of the assignment, and the date the assignment is due
- Provide a word count at the end of the assignment (not including the Reference section)

Hard copy submissions

- Type on one side of A4 paper
- Staple pages together
- Avoid presenting assignments in bulky folders or sleeves unless necessary
- Avoid inserting individual pages in clearfile sleeves

13. Penalties

In line with department policy, assignments handed in after the due date will receive a considerably reduced grade unless accompanied by a medical certificate or other evidence of exceptional circumstances. Information on penalty arrangements will be included with detailed instructions for each assignment.

14. Mandatory course requirements

Students are expected to attend all tutorials. If a student has missed two tutorials for any reason, they will be required to hand in relevant pieces of written work (to be specified by their tutor) relating to the topics of any further missed classes. All students must make a satisfactory attempt to complete assignment requirements. "Satisfactory" means that where they have not reached a C standard, work must nevertheless reflect the fact that the assignment has been taken seriously and that a reasonable amount of effort has been devoted to the topic. No work handed in after 5pm on 4th June may count for these purposes. All students must also gain a level of 40% in the final examination in order to pass the course.

15. Class Representative

A class representative will be elected in the first class, and that person's name and contact details will be available to VUWSA, the Course Coordinator and the class. The class representative provides a communication channel to liaise with the Course Coordinator on behalf of students.

16. Statement on legibility

Students are expected to write clearly. Where work is deemed 'illegible', the options are:

- the student will be given a photocopy of the work and asked to transcribe it to an acceptable standard (preferably typed) within a specified time frame after which penalties will apply;
- the student will be given a photocopy of the work and asked to transcribe it to an acceptable standard (preferably typed) and lateness penalties apply;
- if the student does not transcribe it to an acceptable standard, the work will be accepted as 'received' (so any associated mandatory course requirements are met) but not marked.

17. Academic Integrity and Plagiarism

Academic integrity means that university staff and students, in their teaching and learning are expected to treat others honestly, fairly and with respect at all times. It is not acceptable to mistreat academic, intellectual or creative work that has been done by other people by representing it as your own original work.

Academic integrity is important because it is the core value on which the University's learning, teaching and research activities are based. Victoria University's reputation for academic integrity adds value to your qualification.

The University defines plagiarism as presenting someone else's work as if it were your own, whether you mean to or not. 'Someone else's work' means anything that is not your own idea. Even if it is presented in your own style, you must acknowledge your sources fully and appropriately. This includes:

- Material from books, journals or any other printed source
- The work of other students or staff
- Information from the internet
- Software programs and other electronic material
- Designs and ideas
- The organisation or structuring of any such material

Find out more about plagiarism, how to avoid it and penalties, on the University's website:

18. GENERAL UNIVERSITY POLICIES AND STATUTES

Students should familiarise themselves with the University's policies and statutes, particularly the Assessment Statute, the Personal Courses of Study Statute, the Statute on Student Conduct and any statutes relating to the particular qualifications being studied; see the Victoria University Calendar or go to the Academic Policy and Student Policy sections on:
