SCHOOL LOCATION

The Sociology staff location is on levels 9 and 10 of the Murphy Building. The staff offices are on level 10 and the School of Social and Cultural Studies Administration Office is on level 9. The Sociology Student notice board for items relating to Sociology courses is on level 9, although you may find other items of interest on the notice boards on level 10.

WEBSITE

The School's website is at: <http://www.victoria.ac.nz/sacs>. On the same page you will find Sociolog, <http://www.victoria.ac.nz/sacs/about/sociolog.aspx>, a chronicle of reflections written by Sociology, Social Policy, Social Science Research staff and postgraduate students.

TRIMESTER DATES

Teaching dates:	1 March to 4 June 2010
Mid trimester break	5 April to 18 April 2010
Study week:	7 to 11 June 2010
Examination period:	11 June to 4 July 2010

LECTURE AND TUTORIAL TIMES

Lectures: Tuesday and Thursday 10 – 10:50am in EA LT006

Tutorials: Tutorials will begin in the third week of the trimester starting 15 March. Students will be able to enrol online through the S-Cubed system (details available through Blackboard).

Students are expected to attend at least 6 of the 9 tutorials.

COURSE COORDINATORS

Professor Dew and Dr el-Ojeili are responsible for the administration of SOSC 111. You should direct all queries about the course to either one of them, see below. Any queries about tutorials should be addressed to Dr el-Ojeili, unless otherwise advised.

COURSE DESCRIPTION

This course provides an introduction to the foundations of sociological thought and their application and relevance to contemporary society. It explores key sociological concepts and debates, such as globalisation, inequality, risk, social movements, medicalisation, and technology.

COURSE OBJECTIVES

By the end of this course, you should be able to:

- recognise the main theoretical and conceptual areas of contemporary sociology, with particular reference to the contributions of Karl Marx, Max Weber, and Emile Durkheim.
- comprehend the role of institutions in our lives
- apply central sociological concepts to everyday issues

SOSC 111 can be seen as either a supplement to other courses in the University or, and from our point of view more importantly, as the introduction to further courses in sociology.

1. As a supplement. We hope that this course would be of interest irrespective of your own major subject. However, the course will tie in particularly well with other social science and humanities courses such as Anthropology, Criminology, Economics, Education, History, Geography, Political Science, Psychology,

Religious Studies, and Social Policy. The boundaries between these disciplines overlap and you should not be surprised if information and theories that are mentioned in one are touched on in another.

2. As part of a major. Our primary concern in planning SOSC 111 is to provide an introduction to the discipline and how it can be used to explain contemporary society. If you intend majoring in Sociology you should also take SOSC 112 – New Zealand: Sociological Perspectives.

COURSE MATERIALS

Essential Text:

Student Notes are available from Student Notes distribution Centre, Student Union building for approximately $ 21.

For the first two weeks of trimester all undergraduate textbooks and student notes will be sold from the Memorial Theatre foyer, while postgraduate textbooks and student notes will be available from the top floor of VicBooks in the Student Union Building, Kelburn Campus. After week two all undergraduate textbooks will be sold from VicBooks and student notes from the Student Notes Distribution Centre on the ground floor of the Student Union Building.

Students are able to order textbooks and student notes online at www.vicbooks.co.nz or can email an order or enquiry to enquiries@vicbooks.co.nz. Books can be couriered to customers or they can be picked up from the shop. Students will be contacted when they are available.

Opening hours are 8.00 am – 6.00 pm, Monday – Friday during term time (closing at 5.00 pm in the holidays). Phone: 463 5515.

Supplementary Texts:

Tony Bilton et al. (eds) (2002) Introductory Sociology (Fourth Edition) Palgrave. See also Bilton et al (1996) Introductory Sociology (Third Edition) Macmillan Press.

(Bilton (2002) was used in previous years so you may well find second-hand copies available).

Gregor McLennan, Allanah Ryan and Paul Spoonley (2000/ 2003) Exploring Society: Sociology for New Zealand Students, Pearson Education New Zealand Ltd.

(This text is also recommended for SOSC 112).

Note: In the Supplementary Readings which accompany each set of lectures on pages 13 to 20 of this handout, these two texts are listed as Bilton et al - and the edition as (1996) or (2002) - and McLennan et al.

Gordon Marshall (ed) (Second Edition) (1998) The Concise Oxford Dictionary of Sociology, Oxford: OUP. The first edition of this Dictionary is also useful and you may find second-hand copies.

(This dictionary is also recommended for SOSC 112 and will be useful for other sociology courses in later years).

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION ON SOSC 111

This course has information on Blackboard at: <http://www.blackboard.vuw.ac.nz>

GENERAL UNIVERSITY POLICIES AND STATUTES

Students should familiarise themselves with the University's policies and statutes, particularly the Assessment Statute, the Personal Courses of Study Statute, the Statute on Student Conduct and any statutes relating to the particular qualifications being studied; see the Victoria University Calendar or go to the Academic Policy and Student Policy sections on: <http://www.victoria.ac.nz/home/about/policy>

The AVC (Academic) website also provides information for students in a number of areas including Academic Grievances, Student and Staff conduct, Meeting the needs of students with impairments, and student support/VUWSA student advocates. This website can be accessed at: <http://www.victoria.ac.nz/home/about/avcacademic/Publications.aspx>

ACADEMIC INTEGRITY AND PLAGIARISM

Academic integrity means that university staff and students, in their teaching and learning are expected to treat others honestly, fairly and with respect at all times. It is not acceptable to mistreat academic, intellectual or creative work that has been done by other people by representing it as your own original work.

Academic integrity is important because it is the core value on which the University's learning, teaching and research activities are based. Victoria University's reputation for academic integrity adds value to your qualification.

The University defines plagiarism as presenting someone else's work as if it were your own, whether you mean to or not. 'Someone else's work' means anything that is not your own idea. Even if it is presented in your own style, you must acknowledge your sources fully and appropriately. This includes:

- Material from books, journals or any other printed source
- The work of other students or staff
- Information from the internet
- Software programs and other electronic material
- Designs and ideas
- The organisation or structuring of any such material

Find out more about plagiarism, how to avoid it and penalties, on the University's website: <http://www.victoria.ac.nz/home/study/plagiarism.aspx>

ILLNESS, ABSENCE, WITHDRAWALS

If you are unable to attend tutorials you should inform your tutor. This is important since their approval of satisfactory attendance is necessary for meeting the mandatory course requirements. Attendance records for lectures are not maintained since lectures are optional.

If you decide for ANY reason at ANY stage to withdraw from SOSC 111 you should refer to the following website for more information on withdrawals and refunds:

<http://www.victoria.ac.nz/home/admisenrol/payments/withdrawalsrefunds.aspx>

Failure to do so may have complex consequences for future enrolment, student allowances, etc. (i.e. you get credited with a fail not a withdrawal on your record). More details can be found at:

WORKLOAD

The workload for the course, i.e. the number of hours per week which students are expected to devote to the course in order to maintain satisfactory progress, is approximately 12 hours. This will vary by week but should average out as 6 hours of reading and 6 hours of revision and research (for your assignments and for the final examination).

EXTENSIONS ON DUE DATES

Essays are due on the dates stated. If for some serious reason you don't think you can get an essay in on time, see your tutor or one of the Coordinators prior to the due date and discuss the problem. Extensions of time are not permitted except for illness, or bereavements.

MANDATORY COURSE REQUIREMENTS

Lectures are not compulsory but, in order to meet the mandatory course requirements, students must fulfil the following requirements:

- a) completing Essays 1 and 2.
- b) sitting the final course examination.

ASSESSMENT

The assessment for SOSC 111 involves two essays and a final examination.

Essay Details

Essay 1: This essay is compulsory

Due Date: Friday, April 19      Word Limit: 2000      20% of Final Grade

One of the main objectives of this course is to introduce you to some of the main theories in Sociology. This essay is about one of the major theorists – Marx, or Weber, or Durkheim. We have given you a choice of topics plus a list of primary and secondary readings.

Choose ONE of the following three topics:

EITHER Marx

Alienation was a central concern for the young Karl Marx. Discuss the dimensions of this alienation in connection to Marx's critique of capitalist society, and comment on the contemporary relevance of this concept.

OR Weber

One of Weber's key concepts was that of "rationalization", by which he meant the eradication of mystery and emotion from everyday life and their replacement by rational calculation and control. Examine the contribution which Weber attributed to "the Protestant ethic" in this process.

OR Durkheim

A Central focus of Durkheim was the transition from mechanical to organic solidarity as societies entered modernity by means of an increasingly complex division of labour. Show how his concept of "anomie" is used to characterize the breakdown in moral regulation associated with this transition.

Readings

When looking at the work of, or concepts associated with any major theorist, you will find the Concise Oxford Dictionary of Sociology useful. A valuable and recently published source of material on all aspects of sociology is the Blackwell Encyclopedia of Sociology, which is located in the Reference section of the Library at call-mark H41 I61 E.

Primary Texts

The essay on Marx is not focused on a particular book so the following general commentaries which draw on a selection of Marx's own writings are recommended:

Bottomore, T.B. Karl Marx: Selected Writings in Sociology and Social and M. Rubel (eds) Philosophy
McLellan, D. The Thought of Karl Marx

If you choose the Weber or Durkheim essay you will find the following books most useful:

Weber, M. The Protestant Ethic and the Spirit of Capitalism
Durkheim, E. The Division of Labour in Society

Secondary Texts

See lists in lecture schedule section.

Essay 2: This essay is compulsory

Due Date: Friday, May 28      Word Limit: 2000-2500      30% of Final Grade

This essay is based on lectures and reading in Block Two of the course (August 3-14) – Who am I? What is normal?

Choose ONE of the following essay topics:

1. Numerous social thinkers have spoken of a contemporary “crisis of identity”. Discuss.
2. Contrast biological explanations and social constructionist theories of deviance.
3. The equation individual-society has been a major sociological preoccupation. Discuss the ways in which sociologists have addressed this through the concept of socialization.
4. To understand society we need to understand how action is organised. Discuss this in relation to face-to-face interaction.

Final Examination (between 14 June and 30 June 2010)

The Final Examination is compulsory and will be held between 14 – 30 June. Exact day and times will be confirmed closer to the date.

The final examination counts towards 50% of the final grade and is 2 hours in length. This is a 'closed-book' examination. Information about the final examination will be discussed in the final lecture.

SOCIOLOGY POLICY ON SUBMITTING ALL ESSAYS

It is the policy of the Sociology and Social Policy programmes that all written assignments must be handed in by 4 pm on the due date.

Assignment Box

Assignments must be placed in the assignment box on level 9, Murphy Building, to the side of the lifts. They MUST NOT be placed in individual staff pigeonholes, or under staff office doors, or handed to lecturers or tutors.

This is to ensure that all work is properly recorded when submitted, and to avoid problems that have arisen in the past, when work has "gone missing".

The Assignment Box is cleared at 4.00 pm on the due date, all work is date-stamped, its receipt recorded, and then handed on to the appropriate markers.

Students must keep a photocopy of every written assignment.

Unless students have followed this procedure, the staff will accept no responsibility for pieces of written work claimed to have been handed in.

Assignment Cover Sheets

All written work submitted for assessment in Sociology and Social Policy papers must have a School Assignment Cover sheet. A sample is to be found at the back of this Course Outline. Further copies can be located on the reception counter at the Administration Office, and on the Assignment Box, on level 9 of Murphy building. You may wish to have a front sheet of your own, but a School Cover sheet must be used. This is critical to accurate identification and recording of your work.

TURNITIN

Turnitin is not being used for this course

GRADES AND LATE SUBMISSIONS

Grades

The staff of Sociology and Social Policy follow University policy in giving letter grades for all internally assessed work instead of giving numerical marks. The following table sets out the range of marks within which each letter grade is assigned. Your final grade and marks for the course will be an aggregate of the grades you achieve during the course.

PASS:	A+	85% or over	FAILURE:	D	40% - 49%
	A	80% - 84%		E	Below 40%
	A-	75% - 79%
	B+	70% - 74%
	B	65% - 69%
	B-	60% - 64%
	C+	55% - 59%
	C	50% - 54%

Late Penalties

Late submissions for student assignments in all Sociology and Social Policy undergraduate papers are subject to a penalty. The exact deduction will be calculated on the basis of one half mark per day late for each 10 marks, i.e.

Mark out of maximum of	Then deduct the following marks for each day it is late
10	$\frac{1}{2}$
20	1
30	1 $\frac{1}{2}$
40	2

Where the due date is a Friday, any written work not handed in by 4 pm will be liable to a two-day penalty. To be effective, this policy will be consistently applied in all papers.

TUTORIALS

Tutorials commence in the third week of term. You will select a tutorial using the S-cubed online tutorial system. This can be accessed by going to Student Records. You will be able to change your tutorial until the end of the second week of trimester. After this time it is expected that you remain in the tutorial selected; if for any reason you must change please talk to Dr e-Ojeili - do not just turn up in another tutorial.

The tutorial programme is designed to complement the lecture series and is an opportunity for student discussion. You will also be provided with advice on essay writing in your tutorials sessions. Further information on essay writing is provided in the appendix Essay Writing.

Tutorials will start in week beginning 15 March

Tutorial topics for week beginning:

- 1) March 15 Introduction – What is Sociology?
- 2) March 22 Readings Block One and Preparation Essay one
- 3) March 29 Readings Block One and Preparation Essay One

2 – 16 April Mid-Trimester Break April

- 4) April 19 Readings Block Two and Preparation Essay Two
- 5) April 26 Readings Block Two and Preparation Essay Two
- 6) May 3 Readings Block Three
- 7) May 10 Readings Block Three Continued
- 8) May 17 Readings Block Four
- 9) May 24 Readings Block Four Continued

NOTES ON ESSAY WRITING

One of the main purposes of this course is to help you to develop the skills involved in writing a good essay in Sociology. The techniques are broadly similar to those you will need for your work in other courses, so we are not suggesting an entirely different approach, but there are a number of things to bear in mind when writing essays which we especially emphasise.

Tutorials are intended as the basic teaching aid in essay writing, and you can expect your tutor, who will mark the two essays during the course, to advise on this and to provide you with feedback. If you would like extra help, please ask your tutor or one of the other staff involved in the course, because we are readily available and have special contact hours when students are welcome to see us individually (see section on Administration and Staff Contact in Paper Handout).

The most important points in writing an essay are these:

1. Take care to write on the topic set.
2. Wide reading is essential – you can't write a satisfactory essay by simply putting together material from your textbooks.
3. While reading make notes on the topic, review your notes and decide how to organise the main themes of your essay; produce a rough draft; check the draft carefully against the topic set and make sure it is really relevant. Check also for errors of style, grammar, spelling and punctuation - reading the essay aloud will often assist in this.
4. Learn the difference between analysis and expression of your opinion - and between intellect and emotion. 'I feel...' should never be used in reference to you as the author - it is appropriate only if you are writing specifically about someone's feelings. You argue, contend, assert, and suggest...
5. Although it is important in essay-writing to express yourself in your own words you will undoubtedly find that the occasional passage in one of the books or articles you are reading says something so clearly that you decide to quote it. Usually, you would do this to clinch an argument or to draw attention to a crucial piece of evidence. Never use too many quotations, and avoid very long ones, but used selectively they are extremely valuable.

6. Quotations must fit grammatically, as well as substantively into an essay. Indicate deleted words with ellipses (...), and added words are placed in brackets [ ]. Do not leave quotes at the ends of paragraphs unless you have discussed the quote. A quotation cannot replace your discussion or analysis. Quotations longer than a few words should be indented from the margin.
7. You must indicate all quotes. Both direct quotes and ideas taken from other authors must be referenced giving full details including the page number of the book or journal. You should do this by including after a quotation the author's name, the date of publication and the page reference as follows... (Giddens 1982: 121). Then the full reference should be in your bibliography at the end of your essay. When in doubt it is safer to give a reference than to omit it. Advice on preparing your bibliography appears in the section on the 'Harvard system'.
8. As an aid to efficient handling, essays should be:
  - typed or written neatly and legibly on one side of the page;
  - if typed, use 1½ line spacing, 12 point font and you should have 2.5cm or larger page margins;
  - a copy should be made in case of mishap;
  - they should be stapled so that sheets cannot be mislaid;
  - submitted with full details of the essay, the name of your tutor and your name attached.
  - In giving your name please give full initials and don't use abbreviated first names, as these do not correspond with the records, which we have to use in identifying students.

If these instructions are not followed we cannot accept responsibility for parts of essays/complete essays being mislaid (see also section on submission of essays in Paper Outline).

9. Since it is intended that you should build on your own experience, you may well want to include your own observations in essays as well as the material that you find in books. Such observations are extremely valuable and very often show how well you have grasped some topic. Make sure when they are included that you give evidence for your statements. Become critical, think about what you have observed, and avoid statements such as 'In my opinion it is obvious that...' and 'It is deplorable that...'

Common mistakes to be aware of – and to avoid:

- excessively long, and one-sentence paragraphs

- incomplete comparisons (both things being compared must be stated)
- use of abbreviations, colloquialisms, and slang
- use of vague phrases ('sort of', 'kind of')
- use of sweeping and unsupported generalisations ('everybody')
- failure to distinguish between the following words: its and it's, affect and effect, there and their.

The Harvard reference system:

This is a simple referencing system which is easy to use for author and reader and is the one preferred by the Sociology section. If you use this system, you cite the author's surname, the year of publication and the page reference immediately after the quoted material, e.g. 'Many composers ... have attempted to return to this state of childhood grace' (Swanwick 1988: 56). With this system it is essential that the bibliography lists every work cited by you in the text. Where there are two or more works by one author in the same year, distinguish them as 1988a, 1988b. etc. Type the bibliography in the order and format of: author. initials, date, title, place of publication. Publisher.

Examples of bibliography using Harvard system:

A final piece of advice: Always keep a photocopy of any work submitted.

If you work on a computer, keep a backup copy on a separate disc. Time extensions will not be granted for 'losing' the only copy of your essay when your computer 'eats' it.
