Class Times

Workshops take place 9.30am – 12.30noon on Fridays in the International Institute of Modern Letters, 16 Wai-te-ata Road.

Aims, Objectives and Content

CREW 257 gives recognition to creative work in creative non-fiction writing, including autobiography, memoir, short life, personal essay, and travel writing. By the end of the workshops each member of the course should have developed:

- their individual achievement and potential as a writer of creative non-fiction
- their understanding of craft elements in creative non-fiction writing
- their skills as a reader (as well as writer) of creative non-fiction

These goals are achieved through

- regular writing exercises (weekly during the first half of the course)
- workshop presentation and discussion of written work
- production of written assessments of others' work
- consistent, steady work towards the workshop's assessment folio

Exercises will explore particular subject and craft aspects of non-fiction writing, but will also try to develop individual voice and range.

In addition, by the end of the course, students should have acquired some understanding of the New Zealand literary marketplace – the nature of local publishing, the various media outlets for writers, literary magazines, agents, and so on.

Communication of additional information

Additional information or information on changes will be conveyed to students either by email to all class members or will be made available in class.

Course Materials

There is one set text for this course, a Course Reader, which includes a range of examples of creative non-fiction writing from here and overseas. This is available from the Student Notes shop in the Student Union Building. Otherwise our course texts will be produced, week by week, by members of the workshop group.

For the first two weeks of trimester all undergraduate textbooks and student notes will be sold from the Memorial Theatre foyer, while postgraduate textbooks and student notes will be available from the top floor of vicbooks in the Student Union Building, Kelburn Campus. After week two all undergraduate textbooks will be sold from vicbooks and student notes from the Student Notes Distribution Centre on the ground floor of the Student Union Building.

Customers can order textbooks and student notes online at www.vicbooks.co.nz or can email an order or enquiry to enquiries@vicbooks.co.nz. Opening hours are 8.00 am – 6.00 pm, Monday – Friday during term time (closing at 5.00 pm in the holidays). Phone: 463 5515.

Note This means that photocopying will be an additional expense for you. You will need to bring thirteen copies of each piece of work to workshop meetings (this includes a copy for yourself).

Assessment

Assessment in CREW 257 is based on the portfolio you submit at the end of the course. Two typewritten or printed copies of your folio must be submitted by Friday 22 October 2010. Two examiners (the workshop teacher and one external assessor) will read each folio. After assessment is completed, one copy of your folio will be returned to you, along with the written reports of the two readers.

Note CREW 257 is assessed on a pass/fail basis only. If you pass the course, you will receive Grade H (Ungraded Pass).

The Folio

In CREW 257 folios should be 6,000 - 12,000 words and will normally consist of three pieces of creative non-fiction plus a short introduction. One of your pieces should be in two versions: an early draft and the finished text.

Mandatory Course Requirements

In CREW 257, you must attend all workshops and complete all the prescribed exercise work and commentary writing. If you do not meet these requirements, your folio will not be assessed, and you will automatically fail the course.

Workload

It is hard to assess the workload for this course. CREW 257 is formally a 20 point undergraduate course, but many students tend to treat it as a fulltime undertaking. You should certainly expect to be busy. Fulltime undergraduates should expect to spend an average of 15 hours per week on this course (this figure includes workshop hours).

Workshops

The first workshop is on Friday 16 July 2010.

At workshops you present weekly exercise work for group discussion and (in at least one session) one of the pieces from your folio work-in-progress. You will also be asked to produce written commentaries on work-in-progress presented by other members of the class.

Towards the end of the workshop programme, each student will have an individual conference with the workshop convenor to discuss the contents and format of their final folio.

Academic Integrity and Plagiarism

Academic integrity means that university staff and students, in their teaching and learning are expected to treat others honestly, fairly and with respect at all times. It is not acceptable to mistreat academic, intellectual or creative work that has been done by other people by representing it as your own original work.

Academic integrity is important because it is the core value on which the University's learning, teaching and research activities are based. Victoria University's reputation for academic integrity adds value to your qualification.

The University defines plagiarism as presenting someone else's work as if it were your own, whether you mean to or not. 'Someone else's work' means anything that is not your own idea. Even if it is presented in your own style, you must acknowledge your sources fully and appropriately. This includes:

- Material from books, journals or any other printed source
- The work of other students or staff
- Information from the internet
- Software programs and other electronic material
- Designs and ideas
- The organisation or structuring of any such material
