Class times and locations

Times for the classes will be arranged at the first meeting for students of the course on Wednesday 2 March at 10am in vZ605 (the SLC common room). The room will also be arranged at the first meeting. Dr Sutherland is happy to provide additional information about the course at any time, or to discuss students' problems with them.

Course delivery

GERM 411 is a full-year course of two hours per week, involving lectures and seminar discussion. Students are expected to attend all classes.

Communication of additional information

Additional information will be provided in class and/or posted on Blackboard.

Course content

Classes will consist of lectures and seminars, supplemented by reading materials and films. Students are expected to take an active part in class and to contribute their own background knowledge on the topic under discussion.

Learning objectives

The primary aim of GERM 411 is to introduce students to examples of literature and film that either appeared during the time of East Germany's existence from 1949 to 1990 or have appeared since the fall of the Berlin Wall in 1989 and nevertheless deal with aspects of life in the GDR. The works are chosen to reflect different decades and events that occurred during the history of the GDR and the way in which these have been represented in literary and visual form. We will also be looking at examples of music and art, and how the GDR dealt with the translation of works of minority peoples into German.

In addition, the course aims at developing students' ability to read and analyse lengthy German texts, to comprehend the medium of film, to use bibliographies and evaluate secondary literature, and to formulate their own ideas about the works in the form of class seminars, two essays, and examination answers.

Qualities especially valued at Honours level are those fundamental to all scholarly disciplines: accuracy of knowledge, independence of judgement, lucidity of thought and precision of statement.

Expected workload

Individual workloads are difficult to assess, since (a) students' reading speeds vary; (b) in order to arrive at a satisfactory understanding of a text or film or to prepare a class paper, one student may want to read more secondary literature than another; (c) the time spent reading the texts or watching a film, while considerable, is not time spent working in the sense that reading secondary literature or writing an essay constitutes work. However, the University considers that students doing a 4-course BA(Hons) programme should expect to work for 10 hours weekly for each full-year course. This includes the class contact hours.

Course readings and films

Students are expected to study in-depth 5 of the texts and 4 of the films prescribed for the course. The works will all be studied in chronological order of their subject matter, rather than date of publication or completion. While most of the works appeared during the time of the GDR, a few have appeared since 1989 and fall into the category of “Ostalgie”. They will be studied towards the end of the course.

Assessment requirements

The assessment programme is designed to evaluate the extent of the student’s understanding of the texts and films studied, and the depth and sensitivity of the student’s response to those texts and films as shown in essays and in examination answers. The essays also provide a means of assessing the student’s ability to research and think on a topic, organise thoughts and insights, and express them in a lucid, well-documented way. While an essay at Honours level should above all demonstrate the student’s own independent understanding of the subject being treated, it should also draw on relevant secondary literature, and if necessary take issue with it.

Two essays of about 2000 words in length (30% each)	60%
---	-----

Final three-hour, closed-book examination	40%
---	-----

Both the essays and the final examination are subject to External Assessment by the German Department of another New Zealand university. Note that at Honours level the arithmetical computation of marks is less important than the teachers’ and examiners’ overall assessment of the student’s abilities and performance.

Assessment Deadlines

See pp. 6 and 7 for suggested essay topics.

The first essay is due on Friday, 27 May at 4pm.

The second essay is due on Friday, 23 September at 4 pm.

All assignments must be submitted in two forms:

1. Electronically [email to slc@vuw.ac.nz for submission to Turnitin (see below)]
2. AND as a print-out to be handed in to the German assignment box located to the left of the SLC Reception area on Level 6 of von Zedlitz. The print-out must include a cover sheet available from SLC Reception or Blackboard.

Assignments will not be considered complete until submitted in both forms.

Essays must be handed in on time. Students prevented by uncontrollable circumstances from completing an essay on time must, in advance of the deadline, formally request an extension of time from the lecturer. In cases of illness, accident or bereavement, this can be done by telephone. Essays submitted late without explanation will have penalty marks deducted at the rate of two marks a day; in the case of extreme lateness, the essay will not be marked and the student will not be considered to have fulfilled the mandatory course requirements (see below).

Mandatory course requirements

The minimum course requirements which must be satisfied in order to complete the course are: regular attendance at a minimum of 80% of the classes, satisfactory completion of the essays, and completion of the final examination. Unless informed to the contrary, students may assume they have satisfied the mandatory course requirements.

Class representative

The Course Coordinator will facilitate the election of a class representative during the first week of classes. The class representative provides a communication channel to liaise with teaching staff on behalf of students; his/her name and contact details will be made available to VUWSA, the Course Coordinator and students in the class.

Academic integrity and plagiarism

Academic integrity means that university staff and students, in their teaching and learning are expected to treat others honestly, fairly and with respect at all times. It is not acceptable to mistreat academic, intellectual or creative work that has been done by other people by representing it as your own original work.

Academic integrity is important because it is the core value on which the University's learning, teaching and research activities are based. Victoria University's reputation for academic integrity adds value to your qualification.

The University defines plagiarism as presenting someone else's work as if it were your own, whether you mean to or not. 'Someone else's work' means anything that is not your own idea. Even if it is presented in your own style, you must acknowledge your sources fully and appropriately. This includes:

- Material from books, journals or any other printed source
- The work of other students or staff
- Information from the internet

- Software programs and other electronic material
- Designs and ideas
- The organisation or structuring of any such material

Find out more about plagiarism, how to avoid it and penalties, on the University's website:
<http://www.victoria.ac.nz/home/study/plagiarism.aspx>

Turnitin

Student work provided for assessment in this course may be checked for academic integrity by the electronic search engine <http://www.turnitin.com>. Turnitin is an online plagiarism prevention tool which compares submitted work with a very large database of existing material including the Internet, books, journals, periodicals or the work of other students. Turnitin is used to assist academic staff in detecting misreferencing, misquotation, and the inclusion of unattributed material, which may be forms of cheating or plagiarism. At the discretion of the Head of School, handwritten work may be copy typed by the School and subject to checking by Turnitin. Turnitin will retain a copy of submitted materials on behalf of the University for detection of future plagiarism, but access to the full text of submissions will not be made available to any other party. You are strongly advised to check with your lecturer if you are uncertain about how to use and cite material from other sources.
