Course Delivery

This will be a small class, with everyone required to contribute. There will be translation and comment on the material and questions are always welcome.

Content

This course will read historical prose in Thucydides, Book II and dramatic verse in Sophocles' Antigone.

Learning Aims and Objectives

1. To increase fluency and speed in reading Greek.
2. To think critically about the language and the authors in question.

By the end of the course you should have:

1. Read a substantial portion of the Greek text of Thucydides, Book II and Sophocles' Antigone and become familiar with the vocabulary and style of each.
2. Been introduced to the main themes of each text.
3. Understood the place that Thucydides and Sophocles have in the development of Greek historical prose and Greek drama respectively.

The assessment will assess how well you have achieved these objectives.

Course Delivery: classes will meet as a small group, translate sections of the text, and discuss the content of the material. On Thursdays, there will be a short presentation (10-15 minutes) on some aspect of the text as below.

Texts

Thucydides, Book II (ed. Rusten, Cambridge) – taught 11 July - 19 August
 Sophocles, Antigone (ed. Griffith, Cambridge) – taught 5 September – 14 October

Assessment (Out of 100%)

(1) Essay (20%)

An essay on Thucydides on a subject to be determined in conjunction with the instructor ca. 1500 – 2000 words in length. Please give a word count with your essay.

Due by 5 p.m. on 19 August 2010

(2) Commentary (20%)

A critical commentary of ca. 1500 words on a section of Sophocles' Antigone chosen in consultation with the instructor

Due by 5 p.m. on 14 October 2010.

(3) Three Hour Final Exam (60%)

[Scheduled in the period: 25 October – 11 November 2011.]

Unseen passage for translation (10%)

Four passages chosen from a total of eight, for translation and comment, two from each author and one extra (50%).

Citations and Bibliography

The citation of sources must be consistent. There are many ways of citing, but the social science method common now in scholarly journals of all kinds is the most succinct. It requires a certain bibliographical format as well. Here is an example:

As Clifford Geertz writes, "Ideology bridges the emotional gap between things as they are and as one would have them be, thus insuring the performance of roles that might otherwise be abandoned in despair or apathy."¹

¹Geertz (1973) 205

If you cite this book again, then simply cite Geertz (1973) with the page number [e.g. Geertz (1973) 14]. There is no need for Latin abbreviations--op. cit., loc. cit., ibid.--etc. Now if Geertz has two or more items in your bibliography from 1973, then the first one you cite is called Geertz (1973), the second one is called Geertz (1973a) and so on. In your bibliography, you enter

Geertz, C. (1973) The Interpretation of Cultures. New York: Basic Books.

You need to enter every source you have consulted in your bibliography, whether you have cited it or not. A bibliography is not meant to impress, but to inform. Include only items that you have read and have influenced your paper. If you use someone else's ideas you must cite the source. This is fundamental precept of scholarly morality. Changing the wording of someone else's ideas and presenting them as your own is plagiarism, a very serious offence: if in doubt, always cite your source.

For citing articles on the worldwide web, the URL and date when consulted must be listed as well as author and name of site.

Mandatory Course Requirements

Students must attend at least 75% of classes and complete all required work as listed above (including gaining at least 40% on the final examination).

Return of Essays

The first essay will initially be returned at the first lecture after marking is complete; unclaimed essays may be collected from Hannah Webling, Programme Administrator, Classics, OK 508. Marked second essays will be available from the Programme Administrator, Classics, after marking. Generally expect to wait two weeks after the due date for marking to be completed. The second essay will be available at least 48 hours before the examination.

TEXTS

Thucydides, Book II ed. Jeff Rusten (Cambridge 1989)
 Sophocles, Antigone ed. Mark Griffith (Cambridge 1999)

For the first week of the semester all undergraduate textbooks will be sold from the Memorial Theatre foyer. After week two of the trimester all textbooks will be sold from vicbooks on Level 3 of the Student Union Building.

Customers can order textbooks and student notes online at www.vicbooks.co.nz or can email an order or enquiry to enquiries@vicbooks.co.nz. Books can be couriered to customers or they can be picked up from the shop. Customers will be contacted when they are available.

Opening hours are 8.00 am – 6.00 pm, Monday – Friday during term time (closing at 5.00 pm in the holidays). Phone: 463 5515.

Workload

In order to complete the course successfully an average student should expect to spend about 12 hours per week. This includes 3 hours of class time and 9 hours preparing texts and wider reading and assignment work. Students will be expected to have prepared at least 50 lines of poetry or two full pages of prose (as appropriate to the section) for each class.

Overdue Work

Extensions must be sought through the instructor prior to the due date of the work. In the absence of an extension overdue work will be penalised by 5% per day at the discretion of the instructor.

Marking and Overdue Assignments

It is our policy to return marked work to students within two weeks of receipt. Special circumstances may result in failure to do this. The course essay should be marked and returned 48 hours prior to the final exam. The course organizer reserves the right to mark work without comments and to reduce the grade that the work receives.

Academic Integrity and Plagiarism

Academic integrity means that university staff and students, in their teaching and learning are expected to treat others honestly, fairly and with respect at all times. It is not acceptable to mistreat academic, intellectual or creative work that has been done by other people by representing it as your own original work.

Academic integrity is important because it is the core value on which the University's learning, teaching and research activities are based. Victoria University's reputation for academic integrity adds value to your qualification.

The University defines plagiarism as presenting someone else's work as if it were your own, whether you mean to or not. 'Someone else's work' means anything that is not your own idea. Even if it is presented in your own style, you must acknowledge your sources fully and appropriately. This includes:

- Material from books, journals or any other printed source
- The work of other students or staff
- Information from the internet
- Software programs and other electronic material
- Designs and ideas
- The organisation or structuring of any such material

Find out more about plagiarism, how to avoid it and penalties, on the University's website: <http://www.victoria.ac.nz/home/study/plagiarism.aspx>

Class Representative

A class representative will be elected at the first class. The class representative provides a channel to liaise with the course coordinator on behalf of the students.
