Communication of additional information

This course uses Blackboard and presumes that all enrolled students have valid myvuw.ac.nz addresses. Please check that this account is active and you have organised email forwarding. Additional information and any changes to the timetable or lecture and tutorial programme will be advised by email, announced in lectures, and posted on the PHIL 205 Blackboard site.

Course prescription

This course provides an introduction to Indian philosophy and emphasises some of the distinctive features of Indian philosophical systems such as Vedanta, Nyaya and Buddhism. The course also examines some of the theories of Indian systems of philosophy which offer different descriptions and explanations of the universe.

Course content

The course introduces students, not only to the specific arguments of Indian philosophers on problems such as causality, relevance, suffering, liberation and harmony, but also to questions and issues relevant to philosophy in general. This course will also emphasise some of the distinctive features of Indian philosophy such as the ultimate goal of life, and our duties towards other beings. See separate handout entitled 'Reading List and Course Outline'.

Learning objectives

Students who pass this course should be able to:

1. be familiar with some of the systems of Indian philosophy such as Samkhya, Yoga, Nyaya, and Buddhism;
2. be aware of their metaphysical and epistemological positions;
3. be able to compare and contrast the arguments of philosophers from different standpoints.

Graduate attributes

As with all Philosophy courses, learning objectives of this course contribute to the attainment of specific attributes in the areas of logical and critical thinking, conceptual analysis and rational and ethical decision-making. For more details please consult our website <http://www.victoria.ac.nz/hppi/about/overview-of-the-school/phil-overview#grad-attributes>

Expected workload

In accordance with Faculty Guidelines, this course has been constructed on the assumption that students will devote 200 hours to PHIL 205 throughout the trimester. This includes weekly attendance at lectures, completion of all set weekly readings and research and writing for set assessment tasks.

Readings

Set texts:

PHIL 205 Book of Readings available from vicbooks, Student Union Building.

All undergraduate textbooks and student notes will be sold from the Memorial Theatre foyer from 9–27 July 2012, while postgraduate textbooks and student notes will be available from the top floor of vicbooks in the Student Union Building, Kelburn Campus. After week two of the trimester all undergraduate textbooks and student notes will be sold from vicbooks on Level 4 of the Student Union Building.

Customers can order textbooks and student notes online at www.vicbooks.co.nz or can email an order or enquiry to enquiries@vicbooks.co.nz. Books can be couriered to customers or they can be picked up from nominated collection points at each campus. Customers will be contacted when they are available.

Opening hours are 8.00 am – 6.00 pm, Monday – Friday during term time (closing at 5.00 pm in the holidays). Phone: 463 5515.

Recommended reading: See separate handout entitled 'Reading List and Course Outline'.

Assessment requirements

One three-hour final examination and one essay. The marks for the essay will determine 40% of the final assessment and the marks for the three-hour examination will determine 60% of the final assessment.

The essay will emphasise both the critical thinking and the in-depth research of the students on some of the topics discussed in class. The final examination will focus on the comprehension or understanding of the subject, as the students will be answering several questions. Hence it will supplement the in-depth research of the students.

Examination dates for the second trimester 2012 are Friday 26 October to Saturday 17 November 2012 – see also Trimester Dates above.

Essay: The essay will be due on 30 September, 2012 and may not exceed 3,000 words. Overlaps between exam and essay topics are to be avoided.

Essay Topics

1. Common characters of Indian systems.
2. Indian theories of causality.
3. Freedom.
4. Concepts of harmony in Indian philosophy.
5. Concepts of liberation in Indian philosophy.
6. Righteous actions.
7. The law of Karma.
8. Types of Suffering.
9. Goals of Life.
10. The concept of human being.

Method of Submission

Final essays are to be submitted digitally in Blackboard.

Directions for submission via Blackboard

- click on the 'Assignments' icon in the course menu (to the left of the page).
- select 'View/Complete Assignment' for the relevant assignment.
- click the 'Browse' icon, and then select your essay.
- then click 'Submit'.

Penalties

Philosophy Programme policy stipulates that late submission of essays is penalised. For each week or part thereof of lateness, a late assignment gets a 5 point penalty, up to three weeks, after which the assignment will get a zero mark. (i.e. 1-7 days late a loss of 5%; 8-14 days late a loss of 10 %; 15-21 days late a loss of 15%, and after that a zero mark.) Extensions may be granted in exceptional circumstances, but all extensions require the student to provide documentation. If granted an extension, students must agree to a new due date. Contact your lecturer as soon as a problem emerges. Extension forms are available in the School office.

Mandatory course requirements

There are no mandatory course requirements.

Return of marked course work

Essays and tests will be returned at times to be advised. If students fail to attend these times, they may collect their essay from the School Office, Room 518, Murphy Building between the hours of 2.00 and 3.00 pm from Monday to Friday and must show their Student ID card before collection.

Class representative

A class representative will be elected in the first week, and that person's name and contact details will be available to VUWSA, the Course Coordinator and the class. The class representative provides a communication channel to liaise with the Course Coordinator on behalf of students.

Academic integrity and plagiarism

Academic integrity means that university staff and students, in their teaching and learning are expected to treat others honestly, fairly and with respect at all times. It is not acceptable to mistreat academic, intellectual or creative work that has been done by other people by representing it as your own original work.

Academic integrity is important because it is the core value on which the University's learning, teaching and research activities are based. Victoria University's reputation for academic integrity adds value to your qualification.

The University defines plagiarism as presenting someone else's work as if it were your own, whether you mean to or not. 'Someone else's work' means anything that is not your own idea. Even if it is presented in your own style, you must acknowledge your sources fully and appropriately. This includes:

- Material from books, journals or any other printed source
- The work of other students or staff
- Information from the internet
- Software programs and other electronic material
- Designs and ideas
- The organisation or structuring of any such material
