Communication of additional information

The Blackboard system will be in use for this course. Check it for notices, as well as for material relating to lectures and assignments etc. Students should ensure that they are accessing messages sent via Blackboard to their VUW student email accounts.

Course Prescription

This course examines the linkages between leisure and culture using a range of perspectives including philosophy, sociology, leisure and cultural studies. Themes covered include: art, creativity and play; museums and natural and cultural heritage as sites of leisure; travel as cultural experience; work, consumption and anti-leisure; sport and identity.

Learning objectives

By the completion of this course students should be able to:

1. understand the main characteristics of contemporary leisure forms, and their implications for heritage, travel and play, from a variety of theoretical perspectives;
2. apply some of the main theoretical perspectives of the field to the analysis of aspects of contemporary leisure, with particular reference to heritage, travel and play;
3. demonstrate an understanding of the field of leisure studies and its linkages with culture which will complement study programmes from a variety of disciplines, and provide an academic base from which students can progress to postgraduate studies in Museum and Heritage Studies.

Students in FHSS 301 should be able to display, in general, a broader knowledge of the field and a greater ability to critically analyse contemporary leisure than students in FHSS 206.

ASSESSMENT REQUIREMENTS

The course is 100% internally assessed on the basis of three major assignments and tutorial work, as follows:

- | | |
|--|-----|
| 1. Essay (1500 words) | 20% |
| 2. Tutorial presentation & report | 30% |
| 3. Tutorial work (three minor assignments & a written report) | 20% |
| 4. Case study project (FHSS 206 – 2000 words; FHSS 301 – 2500 words) | 30% |

NB: Students in FHSS 301 will be required to display, in general, wider reading and a more intensive level of knowledge on all assignments than students in FHSS 206.

For the Essay, Case Study project and Tutorial presentation, FHSS 206 students will be set different questions from FHSS 301. In addition, the word limit for the Case Study project is lower for FHSS 206. The presentation for FHSS 206 will be 15 minutes, as opposed to 20 minutes for FHSS 301 students.

Deadlines

Assignment deadlines for 2013 will be:

Assignment 1: 4 April

Assignment 2: 29 April – 31 May

Assignment 3: minor assignments (15%) 11 March – 17 April written report (5%) 5 June

Assignment 4: 7 June (or 29 May if you wish to resubmit – see below)

Method of Assessment

An assessment schedule will be prepared for each assignment and distributed to students indicating the criteria against which the assignment will be assessed and the marks that will be awarded for each element of the work.

Written assignments (with the exception of the tutorial work) should be submitted by 5pm on the due date.

The minor assignments should be submitted prior to the relevant tutorial.

Submission will be via Blackboard. The assignment should be typed, with at least 1½ spacing, and uploaded as either a Word or PDF file.

The Essay may be handed in for comment as an initial draft and resubmitted for final grading by 7 June, but only if the original submission is made by the due date. The Case Study Project may be resubmitted if a first draft is handed in by 29 May.

The University has a policy of reasonable accommodation of the needs of students with disabilities in examinations and other assessment procedures.

Penalties

Late assignments will only be accepted if a suitable reason is given well in advance of the due date. The only exception will be on medical grounds (including a medical certificate) or in other exceptional circumstances. Any late work that does not meet these requirements will have their mark reduced by 2% for each day it is overdue.

Use of Turnitin

Student work provided for assessment in this course may be checked for academic integrity by the electronic search engine <http://www.turnitin.com>. Turnitin is an online plagiarism prevention tool which compares submitted work with a very large database of existing material. At the discretion of the Head of School, handwritten work may be copy-typed by the School and subject to checking by Turnitin. Turnitin will retain a copy of submitted material on behalf of the University for detection of future plagiarism, but access to the full text of submissions is not made available to any other party.

Relationship between assessment and course objectives

The assignments are structured to ensure that by the end of the course the student has completed work on three topics related to the major themes of the course, and has also developed their presentation skills in the giving of a seminar and the facilitation of class discussion on an approved topic of their choosing.

Mandatory Course Requirements

To gain a pass in this course each student must:

- a) Submit the written work specified for this course, on or by the specified dates (subject to such provisions as are stated for late submission of work)
- b) Present a seminar in their tutorial
- c) Attend eight of the ten scheduled tutorials
- d) Attend the final lecture on June 7

Workload Guidelines

These courses require a time commitment of the equivalent of 13 hours per teaching week, including class contact hours, and an additional 44 hours during other periods.

Class Representative

A class representative will be elected in the first class, and that person's name and contact details will be available to VUWSA, the Course Coordinator and the class. The class representative provides a communication channel to liaise with the Course Coordinator on behalf of students.

Academic Integrity and Plagiarism

Academic integrity means that university staff and students, in their teaching and learning are expected to treat others honestly, fairly and with respect at all times. It is not acceptable to mistreat academic, intellectual or creative work that has been done by other people by representing it as your own original work.

Academic integrity is important because it is the core value on which the University's learning, teaching and research activities are based. Victoria University's reputation for academic integrity adds value to your qualification.

The University defines plagiarism as presenting someone else's work as if it were your own, whether you mean to or not. 'Someone else's work' means anything that is not your own idea. Even if it is presented in your own style, you must acknowledge your sources fully and appropriately. This includes:

- Material from books, journals or any other printed source
- The work of other students or staff
- Information from the internet
- Software programs and other electronic material
- Designs and ideas
- The organisation or structuring of any such material

Find out more about plagiarism, how to avoid it and penalties, on the University's website: <http://www.victoria.ac.nz/home/study/plagiarism>
