2. Course Content and Learning Objectives

Teaching/Learning Summary

The course will be delivered in a seminar format featuring discussion of text that has been translated prior to class by the students. There will be readings in the secondary literature on occasion. It is essential that students keep up so that they may receive the most benefit from instruction and discussion.

Additional Information

Any further announcements concerning the course will be posted on the Classics noticeboards opposite OK505.

Course Prescription

This course will examine selected Latin Prose Texts.

Course Content

This course will read in Latin and discuss: excerpts from Livy Book 1 (with Jeff), Sallust's Bellum Catilinae (with Mark), and Tacitus, Annales 4 (with Art).

Learning Objectives

Students who pass this course should:

- have read a substantial amount of the set texts;
- have improved their fluency and speed in reading Latin;
- be able to think critically about the main themes of the texts;
- be able to demonstrate an understanding of the place that the texts hold in the development of Latin prose.

Expected Workload

In order to complete the course successfully, an 'average' student should expect to spend an average of about 10 hours per week on it, i.e. 2-3 class hours, and the remainder for preparation and study. Note that this is a rough guideline only and that the calculation includes breaks, study week, and exam period. Some people might have to put in more time, others less.

Required Texts

Livy Book One ed. J.L. Whiteley, Duckworth Publishing

Sallust Bellum Catilinae ed. J. Ramsey, Oxford University Press

Tacitus, Annals 4 ed. A.J. Woodman and R.H. Martin, Cambridge University Press

Note: All undergraduate textbooks and student notes will be sold from the Memorial Theatre Foyer from 11 February to 15 March 2013, while postgraduate textbooks and student notes will be available from vicbooks' new store, Ground Floor Easterfield Building, Kelburn Parade. After week two of the trimester all undergraduate textbooks and student notes will be sold from vicbooks, Easterfield Building.

3. Assessment and Mandatory Requirements

Assessment (Out of 100%)

Translation/Grammar Test (20%)

A one hour test to be given at some point in June; date to be finalised in discussion with the class during week 1.

The precise form of the test as well as its date will be discussed early in trimester one.

Essay (30%)

An essay whose subject is to be determined in conjunction with the course instructors based on one of the three authors (ca. 2000 words in length).

DUE DATE: 23 August, 2013

Final Examination (50%) – 3 hours

(Exam period is 25 October to 16 November 2013; Students must be certain to be available to sit the examination at any point during the exam period)

The exam will cover the two authors not covered in the test.

5 passages (2 from one author, 3 from the other) from a choice of 8 from the two authors for translation and comment.

Learning objectives and marking criteria

This examination is meant to test students' ability to translate Greek and to identify grammatical structures in the works read up to that point in the year. The essay measures the student's understanding informed by research of the themes and content of a text or part thereof. The Final Examination will test both proficiency with the Greek language and the ability to discuss the content of the texts.

Penalties

Extensions must be sought through the instructor prior to the due date of the essay. In the absence of an extension overdue work will be penalised by 5% per day at the discretion of the instructor.

Workload issues don't constitute a compelling reason for the request of an extension.

Mandatory Course Requirements

To meet the mandatory requirements for this course, a student must submit the essay and sit the test and the final examination.

There are no mandatory attendance requirements. However, you are advised that attending fewer than 75% of the classes will in all likelihood jeopardize your ability to succeed in this course.

Class Representative

A class representative will be elected in the first class. That person's name and contact details will be available to VUWSA, the Course Coordinator, and the class. The class representative provides a communication channel to liaise with the Course Coordinator on behalf of students.

You can find out more information on Class Representatives on the VUWSA website.

Academic Integrity and Plagiarism

Academic integrity means that university staff and students, in their teaching and learning are expected to treat others honestly, fairly and with respect at all times. It is not acceptable to mistreat academic, intellectual or creative work that has been done by other people by representing it as your own original work.

Academic integrity is important because it is the core value on which the University's learning, teaching and research activities are based. Victoria University's reputation for academic integrity adds value to your qualification.

The University defines plagiarism as presenting someone else's work as if it were your own, whether you mean to or not. 'Someone else's work' means anything that is not your own idea. Even if it is presented in your own style, you must acknowledge your sources fully and appropriately. This includes:

- Material from books, journals or any other printed source
- The work of other students or staff
- Information from the internet
- Software programs and other electronic material
- Designs and ideas
- The organisation or structuring of any such material
