1. Staff

Course Coordinator:

Assoc. Prof. Paul Warren

Von Zedlitz (VZ) 320

Tel: 463 5631

Email: paul.warren@vuw.ac.nz

Office hours: Wed 9-9.50, Fri 11-12

Lectures will also be given by Sasha Calhoun and Frank Boers (LALS) and by Carolyn Wilshire (PSYC). See attached lecture schedule.

2. Class times and locations

Lecture times: Mon, Wed, Fri 10:00-10:50

Lecture venues: HU LT220 (except for practical classes on Wed in weeks 3, 5, 7, 9 and 11, venue to be advised)

Tutorial/seminar times & venues: to be arranged through discussion with LING423 students

3. Teaching/learning summary

The content of LING 423 Psycholinguistics is delivered through a combination of lectures, computer laboratory sessions, and tutorials, as well as through students' own reading. The computer lab sessions introduce students to techniques used in psycholinguistic research. Usually, students will participate in demo versions of experiments in these sessions, and the results of these experiments are discussed in subsequent tutorials. It is expected that all students will participate in all classes.

4. Communication of additional information

Notices relating to the course will be posted on the Linguistics Undergraduate Notice Board adjacent to room VZ307 on floor 3 of the Von Zedlitz building. Further information relevant to this course will be posted on the LING323 Blackboard site (see <http://blackboard.vuw.ac.nz>), which you can access using your Student Computing Service ID.

5. Course prescription

This course explores the psychological processes involved in producing and understanding language and the nature of mentally represented knowledge associated with language. It also familiarises students with the research methodologies used to investigate such processes and knowledge. Co-taught with LING 323.

6. Course content

weeks 1-4	introduction & language production
weeks 5-8	perception and word recognition
weeks 8-10	sentence processing
weeks 10-11	discourse and conversation
week 11	the psycholinguistics of sign language
week 12	architecture of the language system

See the attached lecture schedule for more detailed information

7. Learning objectives

The course aims to help students better understand the psychological processes involved in language production and comprehension, and the relationship of linguistic theory to psycholinguistic experiment and theory.

Students who pass this course should be able to:

- i. understand basic psychological processes of language production and comprehension
- ii. understand claims made about the mental representation of language
- iii. apply their understanding under i. & ii. to the analysis of data
- iv. evaluate the role of linguistic theory in the psychological examination of language use
- v. evaluate theoretical positions in psycholinguistic research
- vi. understand and evaluate a range of experimental approaches
- vii. apply experimental and analytical tools in completing assignments and exercises

8. Graduate attributes

As with all LING courses, the learning objectives of this course contribute to the attainment of specific attributes in the areas of creative and critical thinking, communication, time management, and an awareness of ethical issues. For more details please consult our website <http://www.victoria.ac.nz/lals/study/subjects/ling.aspx#graduate>

9. Expected workload

In line with Faculty recommendations, it is expected that in order to make satisfactory progress students should devote 300 hours to this course over the duration of the trimester, including the mid-trimester break, study week and exam period. This averages to about 18 hours per week. This time includes attendance at classes (4 hours), as well as preparation for classes, background reading, practical work, and preparation for assignments and the examination. Some students will find they need to do more than this, and students aiming for high grades will almost certainly need to do more.

10. Readings

Set texts:

Warren, Paul. 2012. Introducing Psycholinguistics. Cambridge: Cambridge University Press.

Note that there is an accompanying website for this text book (and therefore for this course), at www.intro2psycholing.net

All undergraduate textbooks and student notes will be sold from the Memorial Theatre Foyer from 11 February to 15 March 2013, while postgraduate textbooks and student notes will be available from vicbooks' new store, Ground Floor Easterfield Building, Kelburn Parade. After week two of the trimester all undergraduate textbooks and student notes will be sold from vicbooks, Easterfield Building.

Customers can order textbooks and student notes online at www.vicbooks.co.nz or can email an order or enquiry to enquiries@vicbooks.co.nz. Books can be couriered to customers or they can be picked up from nominated collection points at each campus. Customers will be contacted when they are available.

Opening hours are 8.00 am – 6.00 pm, Monday – Friday during term time (closing at 5.00 pm in the holidays). Phone: 463 5515.

11. Assessment requirements

Practical exercise 1	10%		27 Mar 2013
Practical exercise 2	10%		17 Apr 2013
Practical exercise 3	10%		15 May 2013
Research essay	40%	4000 words	5 Jun 2013
Take-home exam	30%	3000 words	in exam period (14 June-3 July)

The practical exercises will involve analysis of language data of relevance to psycholinguistics.

The area of the research essay will be selected by the student under guidance from the course coordinator.

The practical exercises relate to objectives vi & vii in §6.

The research essay relates to objectives i to vii.

The take-home exam relates to objectives i. to vi.

You are advised to think about each of piece of assessment well in advance, as some topics involve a small amount of data collection, for which you will need to be prepared. This may mean starting to think about each one before the previous piece of work has been submitted and returned.

Note that you must achieve a mark of at least 40% in the final exam in order to pass this course.

The University has a policy of reasonable accommodation of the needs of students with disabilities in examinations and other assessment procedures.

12. Penalties

In line with school policy, assignments handed in after the due date will receive a considerably reduced grade unless accompanied by a medical certificate or other evidence of exceptional circumstances. Information on penalty arrangements will be included with the detailed instructions for each assignment.

13. Mandatory course requirements

To gain a pass in this course each student must:

- a) Hand in the practical exercises and assignment by the specified dates, having made a serious attempt to complete each of them.
- b) Achieve a standard of 40% or better in the take-home exam.

14. Class representative

A class representative will be elected for the Honours programme as a whole at the initial meeting of Honours students. You can find out more information on Class Representatives on the VUWSA website.

15. Statement on legibility

Students are expected to write clearly. Where work is deemed 'illegible',

- the student will be given a photocopy of the work and asked to transcribe it to an acceptable standard (preferably typed) and lateness penalties apply;

- if the student does not transcribe it to an acceptable standard, the work will be accepted as 'received' (so any associated mandatory course requirements are met) but not marked.

16. Academic integrity and plagiarism

Academic integrity means that university staff and students, in their teaching and learning are expected to treat others honestly, fairly and with respect at all times. It is not acceptable to mistreat academic, intellectual or creative work that has been done by other people by representing it as your own original work.

Academic integrity is important because it is the core value on which the University's learning, teaching and research activities are based. Victoria University's reputation for academic integrity adds value to your qualification.

The University defines plagiarism as presenting someone else's work as if it were your own, whether you mean to or not. 'Someone else's work' means anything that is not your own idea. Even if it is presented in your own style, you must acknowledge your sources fully and appropriately. This includes:

- Material from books, journals or any other printed source
- The work of other students or staff
- Information from the internet
- Software programs and other electronic material
- Designs and ideas
- The organisation or structuring of any such material

Find out more about plagiarism, how to avoid it and penalties, on the University's website: <http://www.victoria.ac.nz/home/study/plagiarism>
