PRESCRIPTION

Advanced study of selected music of the 19th century, considered from a range of historical, analytical, and critical perspectives.

2013 Offering: The nineteenth century was an era in which people craved all that was uncommon. It was also one that shook the very notion of musical creation. Fascination with the individual and his distinctive characteristics led composers to hold the status of celebrities, critic's voices to be dominant than ever, and musical novelties to be applauded so much that musical works were canonized for the first time ever: afforded a secure and permanent slot in our concert and operatic repertoires. Our course will be structured around twelve composers in this elite canon and their so-called "masterworks," from Beethoven and his Eroica, to Tchaikovsky and his Pathétique and Mahler and the pretensions of his Symphony No. 2. As we move between composers we move also from intimate salons to the earliest monumental concert halls; between aristocratic audiences and more modern mass audiences; from miniatures for piano to evening-long operas; and between cities and brand-new nation states. In the process we construct a vivid sense of what was at stake when audiences first encountered these works and how composers factored these stakes into their working process. We also turn our gaze onto us and the stakes we hold in this period as we examine how beliefs fashioned in this supremely irrational era are ones we now take to be unshakable truths. Co-taught with 237.

TEACHING FORMAT

This course comprises two lectures per week (one of an hour and 50 minutes, another of an hour and ten minutes) plus one 1-hour tutorial per week.

See attached course syllabus for more information.

WORKLOAD

A 20-point one-trimester paper should require at least 200 hours work (including class time). This means that in term time, the midterm break and study week you should be prepared to spend on average 13 hours per week involved in activities such as attending classes, reading, listening to recommended recordings and preparing assignments.

READINGS, MATERIALS & EQUIPMENT

All reading and scores will be available in PDF format on the class Blackboard site. Music recordings will be available online. Video recordings will be available online or for use in the library.

Materials and equipment:

NZSM is presenting four performances of Verdi's Il corsaro in the Opera House: 26, 27, and 30 July at 7:30pm and Sunday 28 July at 2:00pm. The performance will last just under 2 hours. It is the NZ premiere performance of this opera, fully staged and one of only two full-scale Verdi opera performances in his 200th anniversary year.

Students in MUSC 237 and MUSC 337 will gain hugely in their enjoyment and understanding of these courses if they have seen the opera and there is an expectation that all students enrolled in these courses will attend at least one of the opera performances.

All NZSM students (and staff) are able to get up to 6 discounted tickets of $26.50 each at any of the performances of the opera by presenting their ID at the MFC or St James Ticketek desks. (Normal ticket prices are $45-$60).

For each student enrolled in MUSC 237 and MUSC 337 we are prepared to make an extra-special $15 discount ticket available for the Sunday (2:00pm) performance only.

To gain this special discount students should:

1. Pay $15 by internet banking (direct credit, credit card) to the NZSM account: ANZ 0103 0115978 00
2. Ensure that your first initial and surname are given as the reference
3. Complete this by 10:00am Monday 22 July.
4. These tickets will be ready for each student to pick up from NZSM Kelburn reception between 10:00am and 4:00pm Thursday 25 and Friday 26 July.

Note: Only tickets paid for by 10:00am Monday 22 July will be processed. After that they will have to sort out your own.

No use of computers or other assistive devices will be allowed during tests and examinations, unless needed to aid students with special requirements and arranged in advance.

ACADEMIC PROGRESS, NON-ENGAGEMENT & STUDENT LOAN ELIGIBILITY

All NZSM students are bound by the VUW Academic Progress Statute. VUW manages the enrolment of students who are not making satisfactory academic progress by:

- restricting the number of courses that students may enrol in, and/or
- requiring students to meet certain conditions.

Students whose academic progress continues to be unsatisfactory may be suspended for a specified period. Students who return after suspension and whose academic progress remains unsatisfactory may be excluded from the University.

Any student who is enrolled in more than two courses in a trimester and achieves E grades in all courses will be considered "non-engaged". The University can suspend or exclude such students. For full details about restrictions and conditions refer to:

www.victoria.ac.nz/home/study/academic-progress

Also, please note that students will be required to pass at least half of their courses in order to continue to qualify for a student loan. For more information see:

ACADEMIC INTEGRITY AND PLAGIARISM

Academic integrity means that university staff and students, in their teaching and learning, are expected to treat others honestly, fairly and with respect at all times. It is not acceptable to mistreat academic, intellectual or creative work that has been done by other people by representing it as your own original work.

Academic integrity is important because it is the core value on which the school's learning, teaching and research activities are based. The NZSM's reputation for academic integrity adds value to your qualification.

The NZSM defines plagiarism as presenting someone else's work as if it were your own, whether you mean to or not. 'Someone else's work' means anything that is not your own idea. Even if it is presented in your own style, you must acknowledge your sources fully and appropriately. This includes:

- Material from books, journals or any other printed source
- The work of other students or staff
- Information from the internet
- Software programs and other electronic material
- Designs and ideas
- The organisation or structuring of any such material

Find out more about plagiarism, how to avoid it and penalties, on the NZSM website: www.nzsm.ac.nz/student-zone/student-guides

GENERAL NZSM POLICIES AND STATUTES

Students should familiarise themselves with the NZSM's policies and statutes, especially those regarding Personal Courses of Study, Academic Grievances, Staff and Student Conduct. Please see www.nzsm.ac.nz/student-zone/student-guides

For any statutes relating to the particular qualifications being studied, see either the Massey University Calendar or the Victoria University of Wellington Calendar.

Information about Student Services, including Academic Mentoring for Māori and Pasifika Students, and support for Students with Disabilities, is to be found in the NZSM Student Handbook (available at www.nzsm.ac.nz/student-zone/student-guides or in hard copy from the NZSM offices on each campus).

Any student assessment or project at any level that involves human subjects (including the documenting, interviewing and recording of information from people) must follow ethics guidelines.
