Communication of additional information

Dr Sutherland and Dr Tempian are happy to discuss students' problems with them at any time, or to provide additional information about the course. Such information is regularly given in class announcements or posted on the notice board of the German Programme (Level 6 of the von Zedlitz Building) and on Blackboard.

Prescription

This course expands students' familiarity with German culture by examining topics of importance for understanding the German-speaking world and how these are represented and/or evoked in a selection of poems and short prose works. Course material is studied in German.

Course learning objectives (CLOs)

Students who pass this course should be able to:

1. critically analyse the thematic, formal and stylistic features of short prose and poems from the German-speaking world;
2. characterise the cultural and/or historical contexts of these works;
3. compare and contrast varying representations and evocations of particular themes across different short prose works and poems;
4. engage with and apply critical approaches and methodologies to the study of short prose and poetry;
5. apply intermediate-level German language skills to the study of set texts.

Teaching format

GERM 214 is a first trimester course of three hours per week, involving lectures and seminar discussion, supplemented by reading materials. Students are expected to take an active part in class and to contribute their own background knowledge and views on the topic under discussion.

Mandatory course requirements

In addition to achieving an overall pass mark of 50%, students are required to do the following, unless specific exemptions have been agreed to:

1. regularly attend classes (a minimum of 80% in each of the two sections of the course);
2. complete the essay by the due date;
3. give the seminar presentation;
4. submit at least 8 of the 10 preparation worksheets;
5. attend the final two-hour examination.

Workload

The University Assessment Handbook has laid down guidelines as to the number of hours per week which students are expected to devote to a course in order to maintain satisfactory progress. Students enrolling in a one trimester, 20-point course should work on average 13 hours per week or approximately 200 hours over the trimester. In the case of GERM 214, 10 hours of private study outside class time. This private study time will involve reading and understanding the texts, preparing any worksheets required, researching and writing the essay and the seminar presentation and reading secondary literature.

Assessment

The assessment programme is designed to evaluate the extent of the student's understanding and knowledge of a topic and to assess the student's ability to research a topic, organise thoughts and insights and to express them in a lucid, well-documented way, in class seminars, in essay form, and in the final examination. To help with essay writing, students will be given the German Programme's detailed Notes on the Presentation of Essays.

Assessment items and workload per item	%	CLO(s)	Due date
1 One essay on a set topic, to be written in English or German as the student prefers. Approximately 1500 words. Essay topics will be provided within the first few weeks of the trimester.	20%	1, 2, 3, 4, 5	15 May, 4 pm
2 One tutorial presentation, either on a set topic or on a topic chosen by the student. Presentations are done by individual students and are to be 20 minutes in length, plus time for discussion.	15%	1, 2, 3, 4, 5	These will take place in the Thursday classes from the second week of the course onwards.
3 10 preparation worksheets (approximately 2000 words). These are submitted in written form. The purpose of the worksheets is to give students an incentive to do the set readings, familiarise themselves with key vocabulary of the German primary text, and to ensure that class time will be used productively for informed discussion to which they can all contribute. The 10 worksheets will be available on Blackboard. They will contribute to the development of textual analysis and communication skills (written and oral).	25%	1, 2, 3, 4, 5	Worksheets for the first half of the course, counting 12.5% towards the final grade, will be completed by Thursday, 23 April. Worksheets for the second half of the course, counting 12.5% towards the final grade, will be completed by Thursday, 4 June.
4 Final two-hour examination. This is not an open book examination.	40%	1, 2, 3, 4, 5	Within the examination period from 8 June to 1 July.

The essays and the seminar are on individual topics relating to aspects and themes covered in class and their wider context. The examination relates to all topics studied over the trimester, but students will have a choice of questions to be answered.

Marking criteria for each piece of assessment will be communicated in class and on Blackboard.

Submission and return of work

The essay is due on Friday, 15 May at 4 pm.

The essays must be submitted in two forms:

1. Electronically uploaded to the assignment box on the GERM 214 Blackboard website for submission to Turnitin (see below)

2. AND as a print-out to be handed in to the German assignment slot located to the left of the SLC Office on Level 6 of von Zedlitz. The print-out must include a cover sheet available from the SLC Office or Blackboard.

Essays will not be considered complete until submitted in both forms.

The seminar dates will be agreed upon in consultation with the lecturers. Students may be asked to submit any material pertaining to their seminar on PowerPoint, after they have delivered their seminar. This will be made available to other students on the GERM 214 Blackboard site.

The worksheets are to be submitted on Thursday of each week (4pm), preferably in electronic form. These worksheets pertain to class discussions in the following week.

Students will be able to collect marked work from the SLC Office on the 6th floor of von Zedlitz between the hours of 10am and 2pm each day. A Student ID card will need to be shown to collect work.

Extensions and penalties

Extensions

A short extension of 2 days will be provided automatically to any student requesting it by email prior to the scheduled deadline (no supporting evidence is needed in that case). Longer extensions need to be discussed with the Course Coordinator and require supporting evidence.

Penalties

Essays submitted late without prior notification of the Course Coordinator will have penalty marks deducted at the rate of 2 marks a day; in the case of extreme lateness, the essay will not be marked and the student will not satisfy the mandatory course requirements (see above, p. 3).

Students are strongly advised to complete all the worksheets, the mandatory requirement for this course being the submission of at least 8 of the 10 worksheets. Any worksheet not submitted will be given a score of zero.

Set texts

The set texts will be made available to students via Blackboard.
