Communication of additional information

Information on any timetable and programme changes will be announced in lectures and posted on Blackboard. You are advised to check Blackboard regularly.

Prescription

As for CHIN 211, with further development of students' Chinese communication skills and their understanding of Chinese language and culture.

Course content

This course builds on language skills acquired in CHIN 211 and continues to develop students' competence in Modern Standard Chinese at the intermediate level. The learning is carried out primarily through the use of the core text, New Practical Chinese Reader: Textbook (vol. 2), although additional learning materials may be given to students in class or posted on Blackboard.

Lectures will focus on introducing grammar points, vocabulary and providing students with knowledge on Chinese language, culture and society in accordance with the themes conveyed by the texts being covered.

The emphasis of the tutorials is to improve students' ability in listening and speaking. Tutorials are also the time when students can check homework answers and discuss specific issues with the tutor. Students are strongly encouraged to become autonomous learners.

Course learning objectives (CLOs)

The aim of this course is to improve students' competence in both spoken and written Chinese and expose students to contemporary Chinese society and culture through the acquisition of the Chinese language. The teaching of the language is reinforced through written exercises, reading comprehension activities and set assignments. Students will be taught another 500 characters as prescribed by the textbook and gain further knowledge of grammar at an upper-elementary level.

The objectives of the course are as follows. Students who pass the course should be able to:

1. communicate orally in Chinese about basic social needs in a Mandarin (Putonghua) speaking environment;
2. compose and understand simple messages in modern standard Chinese;
3. demonstrate certain knowledge about Chinese language and culture, especially aspects on which focused the text book focuses;
4. present insight into various aspects of contemporary Chinese society and culture.

Teaching format

The course includes the following components:

a) Lectures:

New Practical Chinese Reader: Textbook Vol.2.

We have three lectures per week. In lectures, the focus is on grammar, understanding of the texts and the context, formation of Chinese vocabulary and the cultural history of the characters. Students should be well-prepared for lectures by familiarising yourselves with the vocabulary, grammar and texts to be covered.

b) Tutorials:

New Practical Chinese Reader: Textbook & Workbook, Vol.2

We have two tutorials each week. In general, tutorials for language acquisition are intensive learning times for exercises and practice under the supervision of a tutor. One tutorial will focus on the workbook exercises, with an emphasis on listening and speaking; the other will focus on the exercises in the textbook, with more attention on grammatical issues, reading and writing.

Mandatory course requirements (MCRs)

In addition to achieving an overall pass mark of 50%, students must:

1. attend at least 28 of 36 lectures and 16 of 20 tutorials;
2. complete at least 2 on-line quizzes and 2 take-home compositions;
3. complete all mid-term and final tests.

Those who miss the mid-term or the final test will be allowed to complete a substitute test with 10% additional test questions, provided that they have medical or other valid reasons with appropriate documentations.

A significant portion of the learning in a language course takes place through in-class participation during lectures and tutorials, and therefore it is mandatory that students attend at least 80% of all lectures and tutorials.

Any student who is concerned that they have been (or might be) unable to meet any of the MCRs because of exceptional personal circumstances should contact the course coordinator as soon as possible.

Workload

The University Assessment Handbook suggests that students should devote a total of 14 hours a week, including class contact hours to the course. In order to maintain satisfactory progress, students are expected to dedicate approximately 200 hours to a 20-point course, that is, on average, 14 hours per week including contact hours over the course of the trimester.

Assessment

This course is entirely internally assessed. Assessment is based on a combination of smaller assessments throughout the course, one mid-trimester test, one final test, and a final oral test. Students are encouraged to develop regular study habits and to become increasingly autonomous in language learning.

Assessment is weighted in the following manner:

Assessment items and workload per item	%	CLO(s)	Due date
1 3 take-home hand-written composition (150-200 characters each composition)	15% (5% each)	1, 3, 4	Thursdays by 4.00pm on 23 July, 20 Aug. & 17 September in Weeks 2, 6 and 8
2 2 Blackboard online quizzes	10% (5% each)	1, 2	Fridays by 6:00pm on 14 August and 2 October in Weeks 5 and 10
3 Mid-term test (50-minute written test plus 30-minute AV test)	30% = [AV30%] + [Wttn70%]	1, 2, 3, 4	A/V - 7 September Written – 8 September In Week 7
4 Final oral test (10 min)	15%	1, 3, 4	Week 11: 5-9 Oct. (dates to be announced)
5 Final written test (50-minute written test plus 30-minute AV test)	30% = [AV30%] + [Wttn70%]	1, 2, 3, 4	A/V – 13 October Written – 15 October In Week 12

The following criteria are applied for the awarding of the marks in the take-home hand-written compositions (5% each):

1. Sufficient length (1/5);
2. Chinese character writing (right shape and look, correct stroke order); (1/5);
3. Correct grammatical usage (1/5);
4. Accurate expressions and good choice of vocabulary (1/5);
5. Interesting and original ideas in cross-cultural communication (1/5).

Marks are awarded on the oral test according to the extent students meet the following criteria (15%):

1. Length of presentation (within the required time limit) (2/15);
2. Pronunciation and intonation (presentation is delivered with good pronunciation, intonation and clarity) (2/15);
3. Originality and coherence (presentation offers interesting and original ideas and observations culturally and socially; ideas are grouped and narrated coherently) (3/15);
4. Fluency and manner of speech (presentation is delivered fluently, naturally and confidently, with no or limited note checking) (3/15);
5. Accuracy in expressions, correct grammar, vocabulary range (3/15);
6. Responses to questions (questions from the teachers are understood and responded to properly) (2/15).

Submission and return of work

Students should submit handwritten compositions to the Chinese Programme assignment slot located to the left of the SLC Office on the 6th floor of von Zedlitz with a coversheet attached. The coversheet is available on Blackboard and from the SLC Office.

Quizzes are conducted online via Blackboard.

Assignments will be marked and returned within three weeks of the due date.

Extensions and penalties

Late submission of assignments without documented, valid reasons will be penalised at the rate of 10% of the total weighting of the assignment concerned. Students with difficulties in completing assignments on time should discuss your situation with the coordinator as soon as possible.

Only those students who have valid and documented reasons will be able to attend a make-up test, which will have 10% additional tasks.
