           Friday, 2.10pm – 3.00pm, Murphy LT220

Course delivery
The course will delivered by way of lectures, in which varying levels of student participation will be invited, and by tutorial discussion, to which students will be strongly expected to contribute. Tutorials begin on 3rd week of trimester. Note there are no tutorials in either week 1 or week 2 and there will be no lecture on the 17th July. Tutorial lists will be posted on the English notice board and on Blackboard. There are ten tutorials in all. Attendance at seven or more is required. The tutorials are a very important part of your development in the subject, and you should prepare fully for them by reading and being ready to contribute to the discussion.
Course content
This course looks at New Zealand literature by way of four distinct modules, each of which is centred on a particular, figure, text or historical moment. Starting with Katherine Mansfield as a ‘colonial’ writer, we consider the place of New Zealand within the developing styles of her fiction. We then consider James K. Baxter as a public poet, possessed of a powerful vision of New Zealand’s ills and of the road to redemption. Next we look at an important contemporary novelist, Paula Morris, whose Hibiscus Coast explores the complexities of culture and the problems of national identity in the 2000s. Finally, we look at the poetry of Bill Manhire and the controversies surrounding his creative writing programme at Victoria University.

Additional Information
This course uses Blackboard for all important information and announcements, as well as posting lecture notes, and encourages you to check it regularly. Information about the course will be posted from time to time on the English Section's notice-board on the third floor of the Hugh Mackenzie building, outside Hugh Mackenzie LT206, as well as announced in lectures and posted on Blackboard. If you have a question or problem, consult your tutor or the course convener. Draft and final examination timetables will be posted on the HM notice-board and on Blackboard.

Learning Objectives
The course is designed to expose you to a range of concepts relevant to more advanced students of New Zealand literature; it will equip you with an understanding of the cultural and historical contexts of the material you are studying; and it will foster your ability to respond critically to a range of literary texts and present your findings in formal assessment tasks.

By the end of the course you should:
- be familiar with all of the texts studied in the course;
- have developed some sense of the comparative historical and cultural contexts of the range of texts studied;
- be able to read texts critically and discuss your findings in a formal academic essay;
- be responsive to the detail of selected passages of literature and demonstrate your responsiveness in a variety of assessment tasks;

Expected workload
Student should expect to spend 3 hours per week attending classes, 6 hours reading the texts and critical material, and 6 hours doing assignments.

Reading
Required texts (in order of teaching):

- Paula Morris, Hibiscus Coast (Penguin)
Strongly recommended:

- Mark Williams, ed. Writing at the Edge of the Universe (Canterbury UP, 2006)

Assessment

In order to pass this course, you need to hand in all pieces of written work. Additionally, according to the rules of the School, you also need to attend at least 8 of the tutorials in order to pass this course.

For a course at 300-level, it is recommended that you spend on average 15 hours per week including class contact hours. Therefore, you should spend about 12 hours of your own time on reading, research and preparation.

All written work must be in an acceptable academic format. A referencing guide produced for students in the English programme is attached to the end of this document.

Each of these assessments has been designed to focus on a different aspect of the overall objectives of the course.

25%  Essay #1 (Mansfield)

Due by 4pm Friday 21 August: place in essay box, 8th floor Von Zedlitz. You may send the essay as an email attachment by arrangement with your tutor. Be careful to retain a copy.
Length: 2000 words.

25%  Essay #2 (Baxter)

Due by 4pm Friday 9 October: place in essay box, 8th floor Von Zedlitz.
Length: 2000 words.

50%  Final examination

The three-hour exam is made up of three sections: Section A is focused on Hibiscus Coast; Section B is focused on Bill Manhire; Section C allows students to address a general topic and may draw on any of the authors studied in this course. Students must answer one question from each section. Sections A and B are each worth 30 marks each; Section C is worth 40 marks.

Penalties

The deadlines for term work must be strictly observed. If you need an extension beyond the due date of any piece of work, you need to apply to your tutor before the due date, providing supporting documentation if possible. If an extension is granted, work will be marked in the usual way. If an extension is not applied for, or not granted, the final mark will be reduced by one ‘step’ of the grade (eg from A to A- or B- to C+).
Academic Integrity and Plagiarism

Academic integrity means that university staff and students, in their teaching and learning are expected to treat others honestly, fairly and with respect at all times. It is not acceptable to mistreat academic, intellectual or creative work that has been done by other people by representing it as your own original work.

Academic integrity is important because it is the core value on which the University’s learning, teaching and research activities are based. Victoria University’s reputation for academic integrity adds value to your qualification.

The University defines plagiarism as presenting someone else’s work as if it were your own, whether you mean to or not. ‘Someone else’s work’ means anything that is not your own idea. Even if it is presented in your own style, you must acknowledge your sources fully and appropriately. This includes:

- Material from books, journals or any other printed source
- The work of other students or staff
- Information from the internet
- Software programs and other electronic material
- Designs and ideas
- The organisation or structuring of any such material

Find out more about plagiarism, how to avoid it and penalties, on the University’s website: http://www.victoria.ac.nz/home/study/plagiarism.aspx

General University Policies and Statutes

Students should familiarise themselves with the University’s policies and statutes, particularly the Assessment Statute, the Personal Courses of Study Statute, the Statute on Student Conduct and any statutes relating to the particular qualifications being studied; see the Victoria University Calendar or go to the Academic Policy and Student Policy sections on:

http://www.victoria.ac.nz/home/about/policy

The AVC(Academic) website also provides information for students in a number of areas including Academic Grievances, Student and Staff conduct, Meeting the needs of students with impairments, and student support/VUWSA student advocates. This website can be accessed at:
