Course delivery
The lecturer will present the course material in two, 50-minute lectures. The lectures will draw from and expand on the reading materials to create an overall narrative for the course. One, 50-minute tutorial, led by the lecturer and/or a tutor, provides students the opportunity to ask questions and explore the course themes in discussion.

Communication of additional information
Information about any changes to the timetable or programme will be announced in lectures, posted on the course Blackboard site and/or posted on the notice board outside Murphy 518.
Course content
This course seeks to introduce you to the political, social and economic diversity of contemporary Europe. Why are political systems different in different countries? How do these differences affect policies and the way people live? As of 2007, there were 27 member states in the European Union with a variety of political systems. Some are parliamentary systems and others are presidential or semi-presidential systems. Some are unitary states and others are federations. Some elect political representatives by simple plurality, while others chose them by proportionality. In some countries the services of the welfare state are distributed to all “citizens” equally. In others status, profession or employment determines whether and what level of services individuals receive. Some observers even argue that different varieties of capitalism exist in tension with each other within the EU! We have not even mentioned the linguistic, religious, or culinary differences that distinguish the peoples of Europe. How can we make sense of or impose some analytical framework over this diversity? How did these diverse systems come into existence? What impact do they have on policy and peoples’ lives? Have these national systems changed over time and, if so, how? Can this diversity exist within a single set of European Union institutions? This course aims to answer these questions by focusing on developments in the UK, France and the Federal Republic of Germany (FRG) since the end of the Second World War.

Learning objectives
Students passing the paper should be able to do the following:

- recognise and use basic concepts of comparative politics like: “state,” “federalism,” “nation,” “executive,” “legislature,” “representation,” “pluralism,” “corporatism,” etc.
- recognise, explain, and compare the diverse ways that states, nations, societies and economies are organised in Europe, particularly in the UK, France and the FRG
- recognise how institutions and structures of governance influence policies and politics in different ways, shaping the way people live their lives in the UK, France and the FRG.

Expected workload
In accordance with Faculty Guidelines, this course has been constructed on the assumption that students will devote approximately 200 hours to POLS/INTP205 during the semester. This includes: 36 hours in class (2 hours of lectures and 1 hour of tutorial per week); approximately 48 hours reading course materials; 80 hours researching, writing (and rewriting!) essays and preparing for tests.

Group work
There is no assessed group work for POLS/INTP205.

Assessment requirements

This course will be assessed (100%) internally on the following basis:

1) Two in-class tests (= 30%, each). Two, fifty-minute, closed book tests will be held to ascertain your knowledge of the ideas and themes covered in lectures and course readings. These will be held:
   - Wednesday, 19 August 14.10 – 15.00
   - Wednesday, 6 October 14.10 – 15.00

   These tests will be composed of essay, identification, and/or short answer questions.

2) One 2,000 word research essay (= 40% total) will permit you to: gain greater familiarity with a particular theme covered in the course, develop your skills as a comparativist, and improve your research and writing skills. The essay assignment is composed of three parts:
   - 1-2 page Statement and Bibliography (= 10%): Submit a one – page summary that states the question motivating your paper and why it is important (answers the “So what?” question), your provisional answer to this question (your “Hypothesis” or “thesis”) and the type of evidence you expect to present to support your argument. You must also include a bibliography of sources (not included in the 1 – page space limit) for your paper. Citations and bibliography must be submitted in ‘Chicago – style’ format. Statement and bibliography are due at the beginning of class 29 July (14.10). You do not need to submit this part of the assignment to Turnitin.com.
   - Final Draft (= 30%--may not exceed 2000 words!) of this essay is due at the beginning of class 9 September (14.10). Note: I will not assess a Final Draft if you have not previously submitted the 1-2 page Statement!

   The essay length limit includes internal citations, but not bibliography.
You must submit an electronic version of the Final Draft to Turnitin.com—this is a mandatory course requirement!

Before you submit an electronic version of your final draft to Turnitin.com you must create a personal profile. Go to turnitin.com and follow the directions to create an account. The Class ID number for this course is 2743675. The password is Unification.

Penalties

Students will be penalised for late submission of essays – a deduction of 5% for the first day late, and 2% per day thereafter, up to a maximum of 8 days. Work that is more than 8 days late can be accepted for mandatory course requirements but will not be marked. However, penalties may be waived if there are valid grounds (for example, illness [presentation of a medical certificate will be necessary] or similar other contingencies). In all such cases, prior information will be necessary.

Mandatory course requirements

To gain a pass in this course each student must:

- a) Submit the written work specified for this course, on or by the specified dates (subject to such provisions as are stated for late submission of work).
- b) Submission of the final draft of your essay to Turnitin.com.
- c) Attend 8 of 11 tutorials.

Statement on legibility

Students are expected to write clearly. Where work is deemed 'illegible', the options are:

- the student will be given a photocopy of the work and asked to transcribe it to an acceptable standard (preferably typed) within a specified time frame after which penalties will apply;
- the student will be given a photocopy of the work and asked to transcribe it to an acceptable standard (preferably typed) and lateness penalties apply;
- if the student does not transcribe it to an acceptable standard, the work will be accepted as 'received' (so any associated mandatory course requirements are met) but not marked.

Academic Integrity and Plagiarism

Academic integrity means that university staff and students, in their teaching and learning are expected to treat others honestly, fairly and with respect at all times. It is not acceptable to mistreat academic, intellectual or creative work that has been done by other people by representing it as your own original work.

Academic integrity is important because it is the core value on which the University’s learning, teaching and research activities are based. Victoria University’s reputation for academic integrity adds value to your qualification.

The University defines plagiarism as presenting someone else’s work as if it were your own, whether you mean to or not. ‘Someone else’s work’ means anything that is not your own idea.
Even if it is presented in your own style, you must acknowledge your sources fully and appropriately. This includes:

- Material from books, journals or any other printed source
- The work of other students or staff
- Information from the internet
- Software programs and other electronic material
- Designs and ideas
- The organisation or structuring of any such material

Find out more about plagiarism, how to avoid it and penalties, on the University’s website: http://www.victoria.ac.nz/home/study/plagiarism.aspx

Use of Turnitin

Student work provided for assessment in this course may be checked for academic integrity by the electronic search engine http://www.turnitin.com. Turnitin is an online plagiarism prevention tool which compares submitted work with a very large database of existing material. At the discretion of the Head of School, handwritten work may be copy-typed by the School and subject to checking by Turnitin. Turnitin will retain a copy of submitted material on behalf of the University for detection of future plagiarism, but access to the full text of submissions is not made available to any other party.

GENERAL UNIVERSITY POLICIES AND STATUTES

Students should familiarise themselves with the University’s policies and statutes, particularly the Assessment Statute, the Personal Courses of Study Statute, the Statute on Student Conduct and any statutes relating to the particular qualifications being studied; see the Victoria University Calendar or go to the Academic Policy and Student Policy sections on:

http://www.victoria.ac.nz/home/about/policy

The AVC(Academic) website also provides information for students in a number of areas including Academic Grievances, Student and Staff conduct, Meeting the needs of students with impairments, and student support/VUWSA student advocates. This website can be accessed at:
