PRESCRIPTION

This course examines, applies, and critiques theories for understanding contemporary media and technological developments and their deployment, incorporation and use. Students will critically examine platforms and formats such as social networks, mobile media and apps and user-generated media, and their role in a range of sociocultural issues including digital labour, digital democracy, media piracy, and social movements and activism.

COURSE CONTENT

This course is divided into three sections that will address a number of specific topics. These sections are:

1. Frameworks
2. Technologies
3. Interactions
4. Processes

COURSE LEARNING OBJECTIVES (CLOS)

Students who pass this course should be able to:

1. Critically analyse the relationship between new media, society, and culture
2. Articulate the relationships between technology, industry, production, and consumption
3. Examine the role of the audience/user in the development and consumption of digital media
4. Identify and examine sources for the study of technology and culture
5. Demonstrate competency in the literacies of academic research, writing, and argumentation.
TEACHING FORMAT

Students enrolled in this course are required to attend one 2 hour lecture and, starting in week 2, one 50 minute tutorial per week. The two hour lecture on Tuesdays will include presentation of relevant audio-visual material and whole-class discussion. Students are expected to have completed each week’s assigned readings before lecture.

The tutorials are opportunities to interrogate ideas and theories, develop theoretical and analytical skills, and explore topics of personal interest. Student-led discussions will be a key feature of the tutorials.

Lectures and tutorials are designed to work together and course assessment assumes your regular attendance at both. The course also relies on active participation and engagement with media on a day-to-day basis.

MANDATORY COURSE REQUIREMENTS

In addition to achieving an overall pass mark of 50%, students must:

- Achieve a mark of at least 40% (before late penalties) on both Assessments 3 and 4 (see below) in order to demonstrate proficiency in all CLOs, and
- Attend at least 8 of the 11 tutorials scheduled during weeks 2-12 (unless otherwise excused by the course coordinator) in order to have the opportunity to engage with course concepts and develop oral communication and group deliberation skills.

Any student who is concerned that they have been (or might be) unable to meet any of these mandatory course requirements because of exceptional personal circumstances should contact the course coordinator as soon as possible.

WORKLOAD

The expected workload for a 20-point course is 200 hours over the trimester or 13 hours per teaching week.

This includes reading and preparation, attendance at seminars, and preparation for and completion of assignments. An approximate break-down is suggested below, although this is a guideline only.

1. Class attendance (12 sessions): 36 hours
2. Reading and preparation for seminars: 72 hours
3. Oral Presentation (Assignment 2): 24 hours
4. Short Essay (Assignment 3): 24 hours
5. Research Essay (Assignment 4): 44 hours

Note: Brief descriptions of each assessment are provided below, but specific details for each will be made available on Blackboard well in advance of their due dates.

1. In-Class Reading Responses/Quizzes (10%; 500-700 words total or equivalent)Throughout the trimester, students will be asked to briefly (in 75-100 words) respond to a question or questions about that week’s readings. Students may be asked to define terms, write a short summary of the main point of an article, or other similar activity. Seven responses will be collected throughout the trimester. The specific dates of these responses will be unannounced. The lowest two scores will be omitted from the final mark calculations with the remaining five responses worth 2% each for 10% of the final mark.

2. Oral Presentation (20%; equivalent to 1,000-1,250 words; variable due dates)Students will sign up in advance (during Week 2 tutorials) to prepare a 5-10 minute oral presentation that argues for or against a statement (prepared by the course coordinator). Students should use course readings as support as they craft their response and are encouraged to use topical news stories or other material as a part of their response. Students should be prepared to answer questions from other students after their talk. Students should also prepare written notes which should be submitted to the course coordinator at the end of the tutorial.
3. Short Experiential Essay (30%; 1,500-1,750 words; due by 11am, Thursday 10 September 2015)

This essay will ask students to go “screenless” for 72 hours (with reasonable exceptions allowed for work in other courses and employment situations) and then write about their experience, describing what going without digital technologies over this period revealed about the mediation of their daily activities using the course readings to inform their discussion.

Note: This assignment should be submitted to Turnitin via Blackboard and a hardcopy submitted to MDIA Drop Slot at 83FT.

4. Intensive Research Essay (40%; 2,200-2,500 words; due 11am, Thursday 29 Oct 2015)

For the research essay, students will select a new media object (e.g., technology, software, institution) of their choice and write an essay that explores how cultural, historical, economic, and political forces have shaped the development, deployment, use and cultural understanding of that object as well as the impact of that object on contemporary culture and everyday life.

Note: This assignment should be submitted to Turnitin via Blackboard and a hardcopy submitted to MDIA Drop Slot at 83FT.

SUBMISSION AND RETURN OF WORK

Work provided for assessment in this course will be checked for academic integrity by Turnitin. Follow the instructions provided in the “Assignments and Turnitin” section of Blackboard.

Hardcopy assignments are submitted in the drop slot outside the administration office: 83 Fairlie Terrace. Attach an assignment cover sheet found on Blackboard or outside the administration office. Remember to fill in your tutor’s name. Please do not use plastic folders.

Your marked assignment will be handed back by your tutor in tutorials or during their office hours. Any uncollected assignments can be picked up from the Programme Administrator after the last day of teaching. Assignments will be held in the administration office until the end of the following trimester. You need to show your student identification to collect marked assignment from the administration office.

EXTENSIONS AND PENALTIES

Extensions

In exceptional and unforeseen circumstances an extension may be granted. To apply for an extension, email your Course Coordinator before the assignment is due. If granted, your Course Coordinator will inform you of the new due date. Tutors cannot grant extensions. Work that is more than 10 work days (two weeks) late will not be accepted. No assignment with or without an extension will be accepted after Thursday 12 November 2015.
Penalties

Work submitted after the deadline will be penalised by a 2.5 percent deduction from your total mark per work day. Late work also receives only minimal comments from your marker. Work that is more than 10 work days (two weeks) late will not be accepted.
