Te Herenga Waka—Victoria University of Wellington has an overall five-stars-plus rating in the QS Stars university rating system, one of only 23 universities worldwide to do so. The University gained a total score of 966 out of a possible 1,000 points across eight audited categories, including maximum points for the employability and inclusiveness categories.

Maximum points were awarded for 25 of the more than 30 indicators, including overall student satisfaction; further study; graduate employment rate; international diversity, support, and collaborations; academic reputation; satisfaction with teaching; campus facilities; accreditations; art and cultural investment and facilities; disabled access; scholarships and bursaries; low-income outreach; and student cohort diversity.

KIA ORA

Welcome to Te Herenga Waka—Victoria University of Wellington! We can't wait for you to join us. We think Wellington is a fantastic place to live.

Our halls of residence will help you make the most of your time at Te Herenga Waka—Victoria University of Wellington.

Situated around a spectacular harbour and surrounded by beautiful scenery, Wellington is compact, lively, and home to fantastic beaches, green spaces, creative culture, events, shops, and food.

The city is ideal for student life—as New Zealand's capital, it is also the country's political and cultural heart. Many students consider their years at university to be some of the best in their lives and our halls of residence are a great place to make the most of your time at Te Herenga Waka. You'll find your place in a caring and supportive community that is dedicated to helping you succeed.

Te Kopanga—University Accommodation Wellington has a range of accommodation options including our catered halls of residence or independent living close to campus in flats, apartments, or studios. We provide care and support across our halls and flatting communities, tailored to suit where you are at in life.

With lots of events and things to do, you'll have many opportunities to meet new people, explore the best that Wellington has to offer, and enrich your life experience.

“Living in a hall is a great way to cement university as a fresh start. I moved out of the home I grew up in and discovered who I am now, surrounded by people who were seeing me for the first time.”

INTRODUCTION

TE KOPANGA—UNIVERSITY ACCOMMODATION WELLINGTON

Our student accommodation offers a safe and supportive community to help you make the most of your time at university.

Why choose our first-year halls?

Whether you want your own room, to share a room, or a room with some shared facilities like in a flat, we have lots to choose from across our first-year halls of residence. All our first-year halls are an easy walk to campus but still very close to the city.

With inter-hall sports competitions, an inter-hall film festival, mid-winter Christmas celebrations and themed dinners, floor decorating competitions, balls, talent quests, clothing swaps, random acts of kindness, study groups, and community outreach, there are lots of opportunities to meet new people.

We also offer athlete-friendly living close to the University's Recreation Centre.

Your first year in a hall will broaden your horizons, enrich your life experience, and allow you to discover yourself and find your place—it will be a year to remember.

Accommodation beyond your first year

Beyond your first year of study, we offer a variety of fully furnished and self-catered living options for students in their second year and above. These range from shared, self-contained houses and apartments of different sizes to our single and double studios and flats.

Wellbeing and safety

We prioritise the wellbeing and safety of our resident community—you can expect a high standard of care while living in our accommodation that sets you up well for your studies. You'll be supported by our dedicated staff and have access to the University's range of academic support services, as well as counselling, health, and recreation services.

"You're backed by a great team who just want you to be the best student you can be, but you also have the independence to make your own choices and grow."

SUPPORTING OUR RESIDENTS

Te Kopanga—University Accommodation Wellington prioritises the welfare of our resident community by providing our residents with wellbeing and support services.

We enable our students to thrive in our community, providing a residential environment that supports wellbeing, social connection, and academic success. With a strong team of hall staff, a hall whānau culture, and excellent support services in place, students in halls of residence in their first year have the opportunity to transition to university life with support.

THE PASTORAL CARE CODE

The Government's Pastoral Care Code applies to all tertiary institutions and sets out the University's roles and responsibilities in ensuring the safety and wellbeing of all our students. This includes fostering learning environments that are safe and designed to support positive learning experiences of diverse learner groups. During your time here, you have access to a range of services and support to promote your overall wellbeing, development, and educational achievement.

You can read more about our commitment to pastoral care at wgtn.ac.nz/accommodation/pastoral-care

NGĀ UARA—OUR VALUES

Kaitiakitanga—We have a duty as guardians to protect and nurture the environment and people entrusted to our care.

Manaakitanga—We are welcoming and generous and operate in ways that enhance the mana of our staff and students.

Whanaungatanga—We grow meaningful and long-lasting relationships that benefit our University communities and wider society.

Akoranga—We value the experience that students and staff bring to the University and recognise that greater understanding grows out of shared learning.

Whai mātauranga—We nurture intellectual curiosity that pushes the boundaries of knowledge and integrates diverse viewpoints to enhance the world around us.

UNIVERSITY STUDENT SERVICES AND SUPPORT

Students enjoy full access to a range of support services at the University, from health and wellbeing services and recreational facilities to academic assistance and help managing finances. We see student wellbeing as underpinned by a strong partnership between the student, our halls of residence, university support services, and parents and whānau. Each party has an important role to play in ensuring students' welfare and academic success.

Our residents can expect a high standard of care at every stage of their academic career. We are committed to continual improvement and work to incorporate evolving best practices in the student accommodation sector. It is important to ensure residents are safe and flourish in an academic environment, and staff need to know about any special health or wellbeing needs you may have. You can disclose these, or any concerns you may have, when you confirm your offer of accommodation. We can then tailor a pastoral care plan to your needs. If you have any questions or concerns about coming into a hall environment, you are welcome to contact the accommodation wellbeing advisers or heads of halls directly.

OUR TEAM

Heads of halls

Heads of halls oversee the welfare of residents. They manage all staff and operations at their hall or precinct. The head of hall works with the deputy head of hall, residential advisers, night managers, and accommodation wellbeing advisers to ensure students are living in a safe environment that supports their wellbeing and academic performance. Heads of halls work closely with their colleagues to provide a high and consistent standard of care, and to build communities that live the University's values of kaitiakitanga, manaakitanga, whanaungatanga, akoranga, and whai mātauranga.

Deputy heads of halls

Deputy heads of halls work with the heads of halls to provide leadership and management within the hall environment. Their role includes assisting the coordination of the residential adviser team and managing responses to residents' behaviour. Their role is essential in building each hall's sense of community and individual culture, promoting whanaungatanga, akoranga, and whai mātauranga. The deputy heads of halls also function as a conduit to the University's support services.

Residential advisers

Residential advisers (RAs) are high-achieving senior students employed and trained by the University to support residents' transition into tertiary study through manaakitanga and whanaungatanga, to develop and maintain the hall's sense of community, and to provide leadership through the provision of social and learning opportunities. The RAs live on site and a group of residents is assigned to them. The RAs are often the first point of contact for residents needing assistance or support as they negotiate the challenges of living in a communal environment away from home.

Community advisers

Community advisers (CAs) work in our Independent Living accommodation, supporting the deputy head of hall to build the hall community and event programme and providing practical support during the evenings and weekends. Some first-year halls also have CAs who work alongside the RA team but do not live on site.

Night managers

Night managers work on site outside regular office hours, supporting the management team in the running of the hall with a focus on kaitiakitanga, maintaining the health, welfare, safety, and security of residents overnight. The night manager works in conjunction with the RAs and CAs, assisting with duty rounds and addressing any incidents that may occur.

Accommodation wellbeing advisers

Accommodation wellbeing advisers (AWAs) are qualified health professionals who draw on their expertise as social workers, counsellors, and occupational therapists to support residents and offer professional supervision for RAs and CAs. An AWA is assigned to each hall to help manage responses to residents with complex needs. They work closely with other health professionals at the University as part of Mauri Ora—Student Health and Counselling, as well as Te Amaru—Disability Services, Te Ratonga Penapena Pūtea—Student Finance, and the University's student success advisers. The AWA teams also work closely with the heads and deputy heads of halls to ensure health and wellbeing goals are realised in each hall community.

RESTORATIVE COMMUNITIES

Starting university and being away from home for the first time is a milestone many people look back on for the rest of their lives. With it comes the freedom to make your own choices and the excitement of meeting new people. Living with others can also bring challenges, and the staff in our halls of residence work hard to ensure a safe and positive environment for residents. As Te Herenga Waka is a restorative university, the halls utilise restorative processes to address conflict and rule breaking—an approach that aims to repair any harm caused. This process requires everyone affected to work together to reach an agreement about what must be done to restore relationships. A restorative community is one in which all members are valued and feel they belong, and where all contribute to the common good. These communities are founded on mutual care and respect.

EVENTS CALENDAR

Each year, the University's halls participate in a varied inter-hall sports and cultural events calendar. These events provide an opportunity for all students to participate and develop their strengths in many ways throughout the year. In conjunction with the large range of inter-hall events, each hall carries out inter-floor activities to develop and strengthen the community within the hall. To maintain students' focus, events are not scheduled during the periods around study week and exams. An example of a catered hall's events calendar is below.

CHARITY EVENTS

Students in Te Herenga Waka's halls of residence organise a series of charitable events each year as they vie for the Lesley O'Cain Charity Cup—awarded after an inter-hall competition—by raising money for Wellington Free Ambulance and a second charity of their choice. Events include dinners, quizzes, and sports events. Many of the University's halls also take part in additional charitable events throughout the year, including street appeals, clean-ups, and voluntary work.

Independent Living halls arrange social gatherings and opportunities for their residents to get to know the city as a collective group. This enables more social connection outside their flats and apartments for students in their second year and above.

*Fees quoted are based on a full academic year contract for 2025. Halls operated by Victoria University of Wellington charge for 39 weeks. Partner-operated halls (marked with †) may charge for a different period. Fees may vary for 2026. Contracts for one trimester only (19 weeks) will attract a 10 percent surcharge. Electricity and wireless internet are included in fees for all catered halls.

CATERING

Moving away from home means you may be eating food that is different from your family's cooking and what you normally eat.

We really appreciate that food matters, and we invest in expert catering to make sure you get the nutritional support you need while you stay in our halls. We are also dedicated to looking after those of you with dietary requirements that may be stressful to manage in an unfamiliar environment.

When you apply for accommodation, make sure you tell us what your dietary needs are so we can plan in advance how to support you.

Here is how we'll provide you with the best food experience possible:

- ▶ Menus are designed by a dedicated education dietitian and chef managers. Residents can use the Time2Eat app to order GrabNGo, isolation, and late meals.
- ▶ Menus change to meet the seasons and fresh, seasonal produce is our inspiration.
- ▶ A dietitian ensures that all the menus meet the national guidelines regarding well-balanced choices for young adults.
- ▶ We ensure there is a menu catering for allergies (including fish, gluten, nut, and shellfish) and each hall is audited on a regular basis to ensure allergen management practices are being strictly adhered to.
- ▶ We cater for religious and dietary preferences, including halal, vegetarian, and vegan.
- ▶ We encourage students to get to know their catering team at the start of the year—they welcome feedback via the Time2Eat app.
- ▶ Our kitchens are production spaces and are not 100 percent gluten free.

APPLYING FOR A HALL OF RESIDENCE

Online applications open by 1 August 2025 for 2026 hall accommodation. You do not have to gain admission to the University before applying. The deadline to submit an application for first-round offers is 1 October 2025. Early offers may be made from 15 September 2025. To access the online application, you must first register with your email address and password. We recommend you do not use your school email address to register.

Applying before 15 September 2025 increases your chances of getting a place in a hall for the 2026 academic year. Applying by this date also means that any issues with your application, payment, or reference can be resolved before the closing date.

Choose your three hall preferences carefully. We consider all three choices equally; therefore, we recommend you only select halls that you would like to live in. If you decline an offer of a place from one of the halls listed on your application, it is unlikely you will receive another offer. The last day to change your hall preferences is 15 September 2025, as halls will start to review applicants from mid-September.

You are welcome to visit the halls. Contact them in advance to make private arrangements, book a tour during the school holidays through our website, or come to Open Day on Friday 22 August 2025 for scheduled tours. For private arrangements, allow 10–15 minutes per tour as well as travel time between the halls.

Take care with your personal profile. It plays an important part in the selection process, as it provides an insight into who you are and how you can add to the hall community. Aim for at least three sentences for each question, where possible.

If you are an applicant under the age of 20 attending university for the first time in 2026, you must arrange for a completed Common Confidential Reference form to be sent to Te Kopanga—University Accommodation Wellington. If you are a New Zealand domestic secondary school applicant, you should talk to your school to arrange this.

In addition, gap-year applicants may want to arrange a more up-to-date reference in the form of a letter from an employer, tutor, minister, sports coach, or the like.

If you are a domestic student under the age of 18 at move-in date, you will be placed on an alcohol-free floor for the full academic year. Your application may be restricted to a limited number of halls.

All students over the age of 20 as at 1 August 2025 will be offered a self-catered hall only and will be required to provide an up-to-date reference from an employer, tutor, minister, sports coach, or the like.

If you are an international student under the age of 18 years, we require you to stay in one of the following accommodation options: a catered hall; a homestay; with your parents; or with a designated caregiver.

If your application is incomplete after 1 October 2025, it will not go through to the initial selection process. If your application is finalised after 1 October, you will join the application pool to be considered for late offers. For more information, see page 58.

Include any special requirements in your application (for allergy, diet, health, wellbeing, religious, financial, or other reasons). This helps us to ensure you have chosen the most appropriate halls to meet and support your needs.

International students should indicate any planned early arrival in their application if possible or contact Te Kopanga—University Accommodation Wellington ahead of time. The team can advise on accommodation options at local hostels or other halls of residence (depending on the availability) at the student's expense, in conjunction with Te Kahupapa—Wellington University International.

Apply only once. Multiple applications from the same person will cause delays in processing. To make changes to your application, or if you forget your username, email us at accommodation@vuw.ac.nz

Applications for Trimester 1 only (February–May) are accepted from applicants who will finish their studies at the end of Trimester 1. Contracts for one trimester only will attract an additional levy of 10 percent.

It is never too late to apply for a hall throughout the academic year. Applications for Trimester 2 open on 1 April, and students seeking accommodation for Trimester 3 can apply from 1 August.

SELECTION PROCESS

We do our best to place you in a hall according to your choices, but you may be offered a place in a hall you have not chosen.

We can only guarantee an offer of a place in your first-choice hall if you have specific health or disability needs that require appropriate facilities and support offered by that hall.

To be eligible for an offer of accommodation, you must complete the application form by the due date and have a satisfactory confidential reference from your school.

Halls begin to review applications from mid-September and most accommodation offers are made approximately one to two weeks after the application due date. However, no student is guaranteed to receive an offer at this point in the offer process.

OFFERS PROCESS

When you receive an offer, you have limited time to accept it. If it is not accepted by the end of the time period, your offer will be automatically cancelled and you will be notified.

We recommend that you do not decline an offer because you want to be offered a place in another hall. It is unlikely you will receive a second offer, and students who have yet to receive an offer will be considered before you.

Let us know if you are no longer coming to Victoria University of Wellington to study, so we can make offers to students who are still committed to enrolling at the University.

Your application is important to us, and we will try to place you in one of our halls. If you do not receive an offer of a place in a hall by mid-January, we recommend that you start looking at alternative accommodation, such as private hostels or a room in an established flat.

You can find out more about flatting at wgtn.ac.nz/accommodation/apartments-flats

If you have any questions, contact Te Kopanga—University Accommodation Wellington.

FEES AND CHARGES

DEPOSIT

Upon acceptance of an offer of accommodation, a deposit is required, which is typically around $1,000. The deposit has three components:

- ▶ activities fee
- ▶ administration fee
- ▶ bond.

If you withdraw from the contract before the withdrawal date specified in the contract, we will refund the activities fee and bond. If you withdraw after the withdrawal date, we will refund only the bond.

ACCOMMODATION FEES

The accommodation fees are payable in advance. The university-operated halls charge monthly fees, with the first instalment due in late January.

New Zealand students will not receive StudyLink assistance or any scholarship award payments soon enough to pay the first hall instalment, and it will not cover the full cost of subsequent instalments.

Contracts for one trimester only will attract an additional levy of 10 percent.

FEES AND CHARGES

If you withdraw after taking up residence:

- ▶ you and your guarantor (if you have one) remain responsible for the $500 charge for breaking the contract
- ▶ you and your guarantor (if you have one) will be liable for the accommodation fees unless (and until) a suitable replacement takes up residence.

ADDITIONAL COSTS

In independent-living halls, the costs for electricity and the internet may be additional to the accommodation fees.

NEED HELP?

Did you know there are a limited number of scholarships available to contribute to accommodation costs? Find out more about scholarships, bursaries, and awards on our website.
